

Carey Scores a Crushing Victory

CAREY AND KRUPSAK AT VICTORY FETE
(UPI TELEPHOTO)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Governor-elect Hugh L. Carey's crushing victory over Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson in Tuesday's election ended 16 years of GOP executive office rule and sparked dramatic Democratic gains across the state.

With returns still incomplete, Democrats riding the coattails of the once-obscure Brooklyn congressman gained control of the Assembly for only the third time in 40 years, added at least five seats to their already lopsided margin in the state's congressional delegation, and provided the party with a new national figure.

Carey's win also gave the state its first female lieutenant governor.

Based on returns from 96 per cent of the state's 13,757 election districts, Carey had rolled up a vote of 2,875,788 to Wilson's 2,098,586. Carey led 58-42 in percentage points.

(The Wilson/Caso team with 51 per cent of the vote, beating the Carey/Krupsak entry by 27,558 to 26,475, a margin of 1,083 votes in Ulster County.)

With Wilson, who served 15 years as lieutenant governor under Nelson A. Rockefeller, decisively losing his bid for a full four-year term, there was little Republican cheer. What there was consisted of the re-election of Sen. Jacob K. Javits to a fourth term over Texas-transplant Ramsey Clark; the narrow victory of Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz over Robert Abrams; and retention of the GOP majority in the state Senate.

Elected jointly with the 55-year-old Carey was state Sen. Mary Anne Krupsak of Canajoharie, who became the state's first female lieutenant governor. Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso ran as Wilson's running mate.

Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, easily won his sixth term, defeating former Rochester Mayor Stephen May by more than 1.4 million votes.

A chief casualty in the Assembly melee was Majority Leader John E. Kingston of Westbury, who was upset by Democrat Angelo F. Orazio.

Speaker Perry B. Duryea, who probably will become minority leader in the new Assembly, had a tough battle before defeating Democrat Joyce C. Burland.

Wilson, 60, took over the state government reins last Dec. 18 when Rockefeller resigned. He conceded to Carey shortly before midnight.

He told a cheering crowd that he had telephoned his best wishes to Carey and said "frankly, this has not been on a nationwide basis necessarily a good day for the Republican party but let me say, the Republican party is not dead."

Carey, a seven-term congressman little known outside his Brooklyn district less than a year ago, was surrounded by his 12 children as he gave his victory speech.

"This is a celebration of a homecoming. We've come home tonight. Let the word go forth that the divided and disaffected Democrats have come home." He noted that "We have a tough job ahead" — and he asked for support.

Carey's wife, Helen, died earlier this year of cancer, and Carey referred to her and two sons, Peter and Hugh Jr., who were killed in a Long Island traffic accident in 1969, in his brief talk.

"There is triumph tonight. But there is also for me and my family an abiding memory together is the love of our strength that binds us together is the love of our Helen and our Peter and our Hugh."

Hinchey's Big Upset

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Unbelievable.

That was the word from both camps in the wake of Maurice Hinchey's startling 2,352-vote victory over incumbent Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, in the 101st Assembly District, handing Bell his first defeat in what had been an unbroken string of triumphs.

Hinchey, believed to be the first Democrat elected to the Assembly in Ulster County in this century, avenged a 9,717-vote Bell victory when the two met in 1972.

Seldom at a loss for words in their bitterly fought campaign, Hinchey seemed almost dazed as party workers swarmed around him at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. "It's been a long struggle," he told the Freeman shortly after his arrival in Kingston from the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties where he had taken the returns.

Bell's arrival in Kingston from Woodstock preceded Hinchey by an hour (around 10 p.m.) but even that early it was evident that Bell was in trouble and only a strong rally would save him.

Bell never actually "conceded"—there was no formal speech—but immediately upon arrival in Kingston he offered a series of reasons for what was then a "bad showing" (in Bell's words).

Bell blamed the "top of the ticket" (Hugh Carey was beating Malcolm Wilson badly), Watergate, the Nixon pardon by President Ford, recession, inflation.

"There seems to be a general 'throw the rascals out' syndrome," he said. "People want change. People are getting on the 'B' line (Democrat line) and staying there."

"It's a doubly bad year for Republican incumbents," Bell said, adding, "But that's polly biz." (political business).

Voting was off considerably in the Bell-Hinchey race compared to 1972, with Hinchey's unofficial 24,428 to 22,076 victory representing about 11,500 fewer votes cast than two years ago.

In fact, Hinchey picked up only 782 more votes than he did in 1972 but Bell lost a whopping 11,287 and with it his Assembly seat he first won in 1968 and successfully defended twice.

Bell trailed the entire night losing key town after key town. Hurley started out like '72 when Bell won it by almost 900 votes; in the end his plurality fell to only 73.

Olive was considered crucial by both Hinchey and Bell and Hinchey won handily, 1,050 to 630.

In Saugerties where Bell campaigned heavily in 1972 and won going away (803 votes), Hinchey reversed the totals, taking his hometown by 832 votes.

In Woodstock, Bell narrowly averted the ignominy of losing his home town in 1972 (21 votes) but this time the tide ran against him. Hinchey won by 123 votes.

The City of Kingston was another key area which Bell had carried by 1,784 two years ago. Last night it was Hinchey by 1,217.

Bell said he had no plans for the (political) future. "Let's talk about that in a few days," he said.

Hinchey, who will resign his $18,000 a year post with the State Department of Education when he takes office in January, said his initial plans call for the establishment of a permanent district office. "The people will know where I am," he said, stating he intends to be a "full time legislator."

THE WINNING FAMILY—When a political candidate wins, his family, which has usually worked as long and as hard as the candidate, wins along with him. With Assemblyman-elect Maurice D. Hinchey at the Democratic victory celebration at the Governor Clinton Hotel after Tuesday's voting are Josef (left) and Maurice Scott Hinchey, and their mother, Erika, herself a Saugerties village trustee. Another Landslide for Fish

For Hamilton Fish Jr. it was 1972 all over again, a sweeping wire to wire landslide despite inflation, recession, presidential pardons and Watergate, all the factors in Campaign '74 that left many a Republican incumbent for dead.

Fish overcame all that, however, with a 2-1 plurality that showed him wracking up 94,500 votes compared to only 47,914 by Nicholas B. Angell, his Democrat-Liberal opponent. Fish won by a similar margin in 1972.

The third man in the race, Free Libertarian candidate Sanford Cohen of Poughkeepsie, garnered less than 3,000 votes.

Only Dutchess County had anything approaching complete returns on Cohen and they showed him with 1,352, perhaps two per cent of the overall vote.

Fish's win in Ulster County was typical of the rest of his 25th Congressional District. He had 16,701 votes compared to Angell's 8,353.

Angell fared comparatively well in the city of Kingston where a small but enthusiastic group of supporters held Fish's plurality to 2,275, well under the 2-1 margin elsewhere in the District.

In the town of Ulster where Fish had been criticized for voting impeachment against former President Nixon, it was apparently a case of bygones being bygones as he defeated Angell by 3,071 to 1,451.

By comparison, H. Clark Bell garnered only 2,149 in his unsuccessful race for Assembly with Maurice Hinchey, the Democrat, winning Ulster with 2,438 votes.

In Dutchess, his home county,

Fish came in with 44,601 compared to Angell's 23,240 while in Putnam County he had 14,134 to Angell's 7,023. Angell is from Putnam County.

Westchester County Fish had 19,204 to Angell's 9,325.

Fish revealed election night about two hours after the polls closed that despite the intensity of his race with Angell he never doubted that he would win, an "articulate, forceful" candidate who "put forth a close we could come to our (1972) plurality." Fish told the Freeman. Fish had a plurality of 72 per cent two years ago; he had 67 per cent last night.

Fish said last night's win was one of his "more gratifying" — Fish had been elected to Congress four times — "because I had a much tougher opponent than in the two previous races."

Fish characterized Angell as a "strong victory," and said

And though Fish and Angell seldom agreed on the issues or Angell's interpretation of Fish's record, Fish said, "he did the first rate research job on me."

"We did the best we could do," Angell told the Freeman. "We put on one helluva campaign."

"My only regret is that I wish I could have won for the people who worked so hard for me," Angell said.

Angell congratulated Fish on it.

a "strong victory," and said that he hoped Fish would work to bring trust and accountability back to politics and government. "May he lend the strength of his victory to these vital causes," Angell said.

The key to Fish's victory, as Angell analyzed it election night was Fish's vote in favor of impeaching President Nixon last summer. "You can't argue that," he said. "It was Fish's vote for impeachment that did it."

Angell congratulated Fish on it.

Almost 'Veto-Proof'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seiz-

ing on voter unrest spawned by scandal, inflation and unemployment, the Democrats swept the 1974 elections Tuesday by tightening their grip on Congress and building new power in the nation's statehouses.

Despite President Ford's warnings of doom under a "legislative dictatorship" of free spenders, the Democrats attained more than a two-thirds majority in the House and a few more Senate seats—just short of a numerical "veto-proof" Congress. The new House also tended to be more liberal.

With a few races still undecided, the Democrats had gained or were leading for four more seats in the Senate, 45 additional seats in the House and added or were leading for four new governorships.

This tightened the grip they have held on Congress since 1954 and made the indicated party lineup for the 94th

Congress convening in January 62 Democrats and 38 Republicans in the Senate; 293 Democrats and 142 Republicans in the House.

The Democrats needed 67 seats in the Senate and 290 in the House—a figure they surpassed for the two-thirds majorities required to override presidential vetoes. But numbers alone do not reflect the ideological differences that often erase party lines on Capitol Hill.

Several prospects for future national political positions also emerged with impressive victories. On the Democratic side this included Govs. Reubin Askew of Florida, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota and who won a Senate seat, and Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois. John Glenn did the same with a big victory for a Senate seat from Ohio.

Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken enhanced his reputation by holding on to his job despite a very tough challenge.

In a footnote to the 1972 presidential election, Sen. George McGovern won re-election from South Dakota and his former campaign manager, Gary Hart, will join him in the Senate from Colorado.

The Democrats' bigger congressional majority gives them a much stronger hand in dealing with Ford as the 1976 presidential election approaches, especially on key political issues like national health insurance, tax reform and anti-inflation measures, including wage and price controls.

Recognizing this, the President quickly assured Congress-sional leaders that he would work with them wholeheartedly to solve inflation, which he again called the No. 1 issue of the campaign.

A number of Democrats agreed that inflation was the prime issue, but said the reason the President's party took such a beating was that he had mishandled the nation's economic problems.

A principal thrust of Ford's campaigning for Republican candidates was to draw the GOP faithful to the polls in the first national elections since the Watergate scandals brought down the presidency of Richard M. Nixon.

But the turnout apparently was less than 40 per cent of the nation's 145 million voting age citizens. Contrary to political tradition, this worked to the advantage of Democrats and blasted the GOP dream of a "new Republican majority" growing out of Nixon's 1972 landslide.

'Lot of Hard Work' Key to Mayone Win

KINGSTON

With a Democratic landslide facing him and something less than a united Republican Party behind him, Thomas F. Mayone, with "a lot of good hard work and a real honest program," ended the nine-year tenure of beleaguered Sheriff William B. Martin.

Mayone's margin was an unofficial 1,682 votes over Martin who had to contend, with a series of highly critical reports from the State Commission on Correction on his administration of the new jail on Golden Hill.

Mayone, the Republican Conservative candidate made no direct mention of Martin's problems as he commented on his victory amongst a throng of supporters and party workers Election Night at the county office building.

"It's great, great, great," exclaimed Mayone, who said he had been confident of victory, although he was concerned about the possibility of his Democratic opponent "riding in on Carey's coattails."

"I have to admit I was worried about that," said Mayone, "but I still had faith in the people."

Mayone, in fact, called himself "the people's candidate" throughout the campaign when Martin repeatedly charged that Mayone was a creature of "the politicians."

Mayone allowed that he had had his differences with the county's Republican hierarchy — only two weeks ago he claimed he wasn't being supported by the party's leaders but insisted Election Night that the party's leadership had only been against him when he was seeking the nomination to run for sheriff. "After I got the nomination, everything was great," he said. Martin contested Mayone for the Republican nomination, lost, and was later nominated by the Democrats.

Martin's reaction to his second defeat for the office of sheriff—he lost in his first attempt in 1963—was somewhat unclear. "You gotta believe," said the sheriff, "just like Tug McGraw and the Mets. You gotta believe."

Did that mean Martin has accepted the will of the electorate or did it mean he still had confidence in his ability to win and might return to the political wars at some future date?

"You gotta believe," said the sheriff. "That's all I can say right now."

"This is the first time in the history of Ulster County they elected a sheriff who started out as a deputy," Mayone said. The county's new sheriff (on Jan. 1) was a deputy sheriff for more than 19 years before his appointment as special investigator for the district attorney seven years ago.

In 1968 Mayone ran for sheriff against Martin on the Republican ticket but was beaten by some 18,000 votes. That year Martin was nominated by the Democrats, Liberals and Conservatives. In 1971 he was nominated by all four parties.

Martin's conduct of his office was the main issue in this year's campaign with Mayone and Walliser taking advantage of what seemed to be almost daily revelations of alleged mismanagement at the new county jail.

In fact, Mayone considers the county jail his "first priority."

"We've got to straighten things out there," he told the Freeman. "We're going to meet the recommendations of the State Commission on Corrections."

The state commission carried out one of three investigations of the county jail—the county legislature and an independent citizen's committee also conducted investigations—and all came out unfavorable to Sheriff Martin.

The Mayone-Martin battle was a see-saw affair with Mayone maintaining a narrow lead for most of the night which Martin threatened with almost every return.

Actually, Martin defeated Mayone (Democrat-Republican) with 22,769 votes to the eventual winner's 22,017. Mayone won it with 3,647 votes on the Conservative line whereas Martin could garner only 1,213 on the Liberal line.

Mrs. Walliser came in with 4,235 or about eight per cent of the vote.

Mrs. Walliser's strongest showing was in her hometown of Woodstock where she had 720 votes, only 18 less than Martin.

Mayone, who also lives in Woodstock, won that town easily with 1,234 votes.

In Olive, where Martin lives, the sheriff emerged victorious with 803 votes compared to Mayone's 717 and Mrs. Walliser's 176.

In the City of Kingston Martin also came out ahead with 4,771 votes compared to Mayone's 4,400 and Mrs. Walliser's 787.

Retains State Senate Seat in 48th District

Mason Reelected By 2-1 Margin

By WADE BURKHART

HOBART

He got about 12,000 votes less, his challenger this time got more than 1,000 votes more than the last one, and State Senator Edwyn E. Mason still kept his seat in the 48th District by a nearly 2-1 margin.

With the vote totals not final, but still substantial early Wednesday, Mason, running on both the Republican and Conservative lines, received 53,516 votes to 29,234 votes for Democratic challenger Alex J. Nirenberg of Ellenville.

In the 1972 election, Mason, running for the Senate after a 20-year career as an assemblyman, buried Democrat D. Steve Rahmas by a count of 65,866 to 27,999.

(The 48th Senatorial District includes the Towns of Denning, Gardiner, Hardenburgh, Hurley, Kingston, Marbletown, Olive, Rochester, Saugerties, Shandaken, Ulster, Wawarsing and Woodstock in Ulster County, and all or parts of Herkimer, Schoharie, Sullivan, Otsego, and Delaware Counties.)

Mason did not do nearly as well in Ulster County as he did two years ago. His vote total of 14,545 to Ulster County resident Nirenberg's 10,859 looks like a handsome margin until it is compared with the 1972 totals, when Mason beat Rahmas in Ulster County, 20,865 to 9,815.

In addition, Mason barely carried Sullivan County, where his total over Nirenberg was 8,031 to 7,335. Sullivan County might be considered home however, since Ellenville residents often say they feel more a part of Sullivan than Ulster, and at least one local editorial has advocated seceding from Ulster and joining Sullivan.

In addition, Nirenberg's advocacy of legalized gambling casinos probably helped him in resort-dominated Sullivan.

It was in the western part of his district that Mason scored most heavily, rolling up totals like 11,411 to Nirenberg's 3,889 in Delaware County, and 12,661 to Nirenberg's 5,494 in Otsego County.

Mason, folksy and low-key, campaigned casually, mostly attending Republican party functions. Nirenberg's campaign never seemed to get into high gear either, with Nirenberg, me about them in the morning," apparently unsuccessfully, he said. When "they" finally trying to tie Mason to former speak to him today, they will Gov. Nelson Rockefeller — of tell him he's won again.

Schermerhorn... Third Term

By TIM SCHUSTER

KINGSTON

Polling about 65 per cent of the votes cast in the 40th State Senatorial District, incumbent Republican Richard Schermerhorn was returned to his third term in office Tuesday.

Taking all three cities in the district by handy margins and proclaiming to The Freeman that his margin looked to be (at about midnight) "two to one," Schermerhorn attributed his strong showing in a tough year for Republicans to his "strong identity" with his constituents.

His majority by far exceeded the margin he polled two years ago, and is the best showing at the ballot box that he has made thus far, said the senator. "People must build their own support," he commented on the telephone. "You can't depend only on a party anymore."

The incumbent's strongest challenger, Democrat King James Weyant of Highland Falls, conceded defeat at about 10:30 p.m. when it became apparent from all corners of the district that Schermerhorn was a shoo-in.

Vote totals in Orange, Ulster, and Rockland County sections that comprise the district give an unofficial tally of 60,133 to Schermerhorn, 30,812 to Weyant, and 2,306 to Liberal Paul Atkinson of Kingston.

Weyant actually made his strongest showing in Ulster County, in comparison to Schermerhorn. He totaled 8,945 to the winner's 14,179 here, with Atkinson receiving 756 votes.

In Orange County, the major

... wins three-way race

The race in the 40th District did not arouse a great difference in addressing the issues, with both Schermerhorn and Weyant taking similar stances. Weyant is a transformed Republican who made the change because of the Watergate scandals, and based much of his campaign on "the Republican bureaucracy" that has run Albany for the past 16 years.

Schermerhorn has expressed the opinion that the top problem in his district is jobs, linking that to the economy, and a major proposal by the state senator has been 5,000 jobs he says will result from construction of a cargo distribution center at Newburgh between Routes 84 and 9W.

And his past record has been conservative (he polled about 15 per cent of his votes on the Conservative line), with opposition to abortion reform, various bond issues, and proliferation of government bureaucracy. He is an insurance executive.

In Ulster County, Schermerhorn won in every town, although by very slight margins in the Towns of New Paltz and Lloyd. He defeated Weyant by the following margins: Esopus 1,739 to 798; Kingston 163 to 108; Lloyd 1,218 to 919; New Paltz 1,354 to 1,174; Plattekill 953 to 620; Rosendale 1,123 to 649; Shawangunk 1,496 to 517. He proved the winner by about 1,500 votes, and Newburgh by adding significantly to the totals.

Betros Tops Magnarella Again

POUGHKEEPSIE

It was Emeel Betros' closest finish in four successful tries for the State Assembly, but the 3,400 vote majority was ample in Tuesday's defeat of Democratic challenger Phil Magnarella.

Magnarella, a Poughkeepsie tavern owner, conceded defeat when the results from the City of Poughkeepsie came in at about 11 p.m., but said he was heartened by stronger showings in rural areas than Democrats have been used to in Dutchess and Ulster Counties.

In fact, the race between the two in the Town of Lloyd, one of three Ulster towns in the 99th Assembly District, boiled down to a difference of a mere 52 votes, as Betros totaled 1,216 to Magnarella's 1,164.

On the Republican and Conservative lines and Magnarella finished with 1,164 on Democrat and Liberal.

Betros received 21,564 votes in all districts to Magnarella's

18,137. In Dutchess, he led 17,556 to 15,198, and interestingly

Betros topped the Democrat 15,221 to 14,495 if Conservative and Liberal votes were not counted in Dutchess.

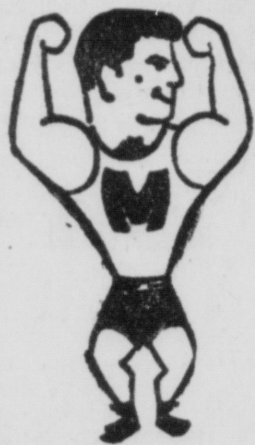

And in Lloyd, Esopus, and Mariboro in Ulster County, Betros totaled 3,990 votes to Magnarella's 2,939. He took the Town of Esopus 1,633 to 977 and Mariboro 1,141 to 798.

Two years ago, Magnarella had challenged Betros in the same race, losing by about 5,500 votes.

The Poughkeepsie attorney based his campaign primarily on his record, having defended his attendance record against Magnarella's charges during the past several months.

He also stressed the importance of electing upstate Republicans to balance the New York City Democratic bloc, did many Republican incumbents this year.

GOV.-ELECT GRASSO AND HUSBAND

(UPI Telephoto)

Democrats Unseat GOP Governors In Nine of 10 Biggest States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Broadening their power base for the 1976 presidential sweepstakes, Democrats Tuesday captured nine governorships from the Republicans—including the giants, California, and New York.

Only a stunning upset in Ohio, where former Gov. James Rhodes defeated Democratic Gov. John Gilligan, and the reelection of GOP Gov. William Milliken in heavily Democratic Michigan prevented the Democrats from sweeping the statehouses in the 10 most populous states.

Democrats also took control of GOP governorships in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Colorado, Oregon, Tennessee, Wyoming, and Arizona. In Connecticut, Rep. Ella Grasso won a landslide victory, the first woman elected governor on her own merits.

California Secretary of State Edmund "Jerry" Brown defeated GOP State Controller Houston Flournoy. Brown, son of California's former Gov. Edmund "Pat" Brown, will succeed the man who defeated his father—Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In South Carolina, State Sen. James Edwards, an oral surgeon, became the first Republican to win the state's governorship since Reconstruction. And in Maine, an independent third-party candidate, James Longley, confounded both major parties with an upset win.

In Arizona, Democrat Raul J. Castro, a former U.S. ambassador to Bolivia, defeated Republican Russ Williams.

With Alaska and Kansas still too close to call, Democrats had won 27 of the 35 races at stake. Republicans had won five and there was one independent.

Early morning returns in Alaska, Arizona and Kansas were too close to call, though Republicans were leading narrowly in all three.

Winning at least 25 out of 35 gubernatorial races at stake in Tuesday's elections, Democrats extended their control to eight of the 10 most populous states in the country, with the Ohio results still in doubt. The reelection of GOP Gov. William Milliken in Michigan over Democrat Sander Levin prevented a clean sweep of the top 10.

With five races undecided, the Democrats now have 34 governorships, the Republicans have 10 and one is held by an independent.

One of the biggest upsets of the night came from Maine as both the Republican and Democratic candidates lost to Longley, 50, a Lewiston business executive who conducted an "anti-establishment" campaign. He defeated former GOP Attorney General James Erwin and Democratic National Committeeman George Mitchell.

Democratic Rep. Hugh Carey ended 16 years of GOP rule in New York by easily defeating Nelson A. Rockefeller's hand-picked candidate, Gov. Malcolm Wilson. Wilson served under Rockefeller's shadow for 15 years as lieutenant governor before becoming governor last year when Rockefeller resigned.

In Massachusetts, 10 years of GOP statehouse control was ended as Democrat Michael Dukakis, a former state senator, blocked Gov. Francis Sargent's bid for a second term.

Mrs. Grasso, a two-term Democratic congresswoman, returned her party to power in Connecticut and became the first woman in the country to be elected governor without succeeding her husband. A popular former secretary of state, she defeated GOP Rep. Robert Steele.

Democrats ousted Republicans in four other states: —Tennessee: Former Democratic Rep. Ray Blanton won over former Nixon White House aide Lamar Alexander for the seat of retiring GOP Gov. Winfield Dunn.

—Oregon: Democrat Robert Straub defeated state GOP Sen. Victor Atiyeh for the seat of outgoing GOP Gov. Tom McCall.

—Colorado: Democrat Richard Lamm, a state legislator and law professor who led the battle to keep the 1976 Winter Olympics out of the state, defeated GOP Gov. John Vanderhoof.

—Wyoming: Former Democratic State Rep. Ed Herschler defeated former GOP state Sen. Richard Jones.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace won easy victory to become the first three-term governor in the state's history. Wallace was expected immediately to begin mapping plans for another campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Elsewhere in the South, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, another possible 1976 Democratic presidential contender, easily won re-election. Democrats elected George Busbee in Georgia and David Pryor in Arkansas.

Lefkowitz Wins His 5th After Strong Abrams Bid

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, the feisty 70-year-old Republican campaigner who takes pride in being called "the people's lawyer," won election to his fifth straight term early today, beating back a strong challenge by Bronx Borough President Robert Abrams.

Lefkowitz, the most formidable vote getter in state history, nevertheless had to sit through some nervous hours as early returns showed him trailing, then leading by only the narrowest of margins.

But when the late-arriving upstate returns from Erie and Albany counties — two Democratic strongholds — failed to turn the tide in Abrams' favor, the 18-year Republican incumbent became a sure bet to win a fifth term.

Unofficial returns showed Lefkowitz with about 127,000 votes over his younger opponent, Edward F. Campbell, an airline pilot and attorney who ran on the Conservative party line, was out of the race with 5 per cent of the vote.

Lefkowitz achieved reelection despite a landslide victory rolled up by the state Democratic ticket headed by Rep. Hugh L. Carey and state Sen. Mary Anne Grupsak. The Brooklyn congressman defeated Gov. Malcolm Wilson by a large margin.

Lefkowitz, speaking to reporters in his lobby of his apartment building, said he was "very much disappointed" at the election defeats of Wilson and other state Republicans.

"I was disappointed we lost control of the Assembly," he said. "I would have loved to see us control both houses."

Abrams gave Lefkowitz fits during the campaign, relentlessly accusing his opponent of failing to protect "common" people against special interests in utility rate increases, food pricing and a variety of other pocketbook issues.

He also sought to link Lefkowitz with big business and former Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's 16-year tenure as the state's chief executive.

Drawing blood on numerous occasions with his political broadsides, Abrams finally provoked the attorney general to outright anger when he charged that the longtime chief legal officer was the "number one consumer fraud in the state."

"Unfair, untrue and he owes me an apology," Lefkowitz replied angrily. "I know sometimes things are said in a campaign, but he's gone too far."

Despite the intensity of the campaign, Lefkowitz weathered the toughest political battle of his career.

Levitt Overwhelms May

By United Press International
Veteran Democratic Comptroller Arthur Levitt scored an overwhelming victory over Republican contender Stephen May Tuesday, in one race that took no one by surprise.

The 74-year-old comptroller, his party's senior official in Albany, will assume his sixth successive term as the state's chief fiscal officer.

Unofficial statewide returns gave Levitt 2.2 million votes to more than 20 years — 16 of key campaign.

May's 892,144. Conservative party candidate Bradley J. Hurd had 176,084 votes.

In heavily Democratic New York City, the vote was better when it comes to finances, most than five-to-one for Levitt. With 92 per cent of the votes counted, Levitt led May, the former mayor of Rochester, 1.1 million to 207,640.

Virtually an institution in the attack on Levitt's ability as comptroller throughout the low-key campaign.

Gilman: 'True Team Effort'

MIDDLETOWN One of those moments was Tuesday, as the 26th District's voters again gave Republican Congressman Ben-Gilman the nod over former Democratic Congressman John G. Dow, again by a wide margin. Dow's liberal views and stentorian tones had been a Conservative a Rockland-Orange County district, but it does contain three towns, Marlborough, Plattekill, and Shawangunk, in Ulster County. Those towns gave Gilman 3,356 votes to 2,101 for Dow, and 245 for Moore. Calling his victory a "true team effort," Gilman said there were "many unfavorable factors to overcome, such as voter apathy and some disillusionment with the political process."

"This victory proves that people care," he said, "and the system can be truly a great system."

Gilman Tuesday was a Republican breasting a state and national Democratic tide. "I hope it's some reflection that my constituents care about me because I have responded to their needs," Gilman said.

"I have tried to bring Congress closer to the people. I will pledge all my future efforts to show that I merit the faith and trust that has been shown me," Gilman said.

Despite his success in it, Gilman called the 1974 campaign "a very difficult campaign." He said there was "a very unusual national flavor, and an unusual state situation."

In addition, he said he had been "confined" in Washington until about a week ago, tending to Congressional matters, interfering greatly with his campaigning. "The trail was not easy," he said.

Before he beat Dow in 1972 for the Congressional seat, Gilman was an assemblyman, having first been elected in 1967.

Dow was first elected to Congress in 1964 in the Johnson landslide, and was reelected in 1966. However, he was beaten in 1968 by Martin McKneally. Dow returned in 1970 to beat McKneally.

THE CELEBRATION — What joy there was among county Republicans Tuesday night was provided by Thomas Mayone (second from right), who won election for Ulster County Sheriff with a narrow victory over incumbent William B. Martin. The celebrants Tuesday night are (L-R) Democratic County Legislator Louis Kirschner (a Mayone supporter); Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature; Sheriff-elect Mayone; and Albert Spada, Ulster County Republican chairman. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Rolison Becoming a Fixture

POUGHKEEPSIE

Poughkeepsie, where Rolison maintains a law practice and Sala is a retired businessman whose net worth was listed this year at about $170,000.

The 47-year-old Sala retired from the auto wrecking business, and claimed that too many lawyers were already present in Albany, attacking the incumbent for keeping his private law practice.

Rolison showed figures during the campaign that purported to reveal his law income at only about $50 a week, and claimed a net worth of about $50,000.

Sala was formerly a Republican, serving four terms as a councilman in the Town of Poughkeepsie and splitting to become elected as a Democrat last year.

Rolison is a former Republican chairman in Dutchess County, and was first elected to the State Senate in 1966. He is chairman of the Senate Standing Committee of Local Government and the recently formed Senate Energy Conservation Committee.

He has based a great deal of his campaign on maintaining relations with constituents in his 102-mile long district through a traveling office.

Buono 'Squeezes In'

Prepared for defeat earlier in the evening, Republican Conservative Richard Buono squeezed out a narrow and last-minute victory Tuesday over Democratic challenger William T. Freer in the race for Ulster County Coroner.

With early results showing Freer in the lead, Buono was pessimistic. "The only thing we can do is try out best," he said, "it's up to the people to decide."

But with victory assured late in the evening, the incumbent coroner heaved a sigh of relief. "That was close," he smiled, "I'm very grateful."

And close it was. With all but one election district in the county reporting, Buono grabbed 25,677 votes to 24,065 for Freer.

Buono's Conservative endorsement apparently helped a great deal. The incumbent polled 3,536 votes on the Conservative line; Freer garnered 1,516 votes on the Liberal Party line.

Both candidates are Saugerties residents, but Buono collected a majority of the hometown vote. Out of 6,392 votes cast in Saugerties, the incumbent Republican enjoyed a 346 vote margin.

Freer polled well elsewhere in the county, however. He won in the heavy Democratic areas of Kingston, New Paltz and Wawarsing, as well as the Towns of Lloyd and Rochester. Buono, however, captured the remaining towns in the county.

...On the Local Scene

WOODSTOCK A vacancy created on the Woodstock Town Board by a Democrat was filled by a Democrat, as Jane Van DeBogart won handily over Republican William L. Kopf in a local race Tuesday.

The vacancy, in a seat with one year left until its regular election turn, was created by the resignation of Democrat John Gardner. Ms. Van DeBogart received 1,539 votes to Kopf's 1,036, with some absentee ballots to be counted in the unofficial tally.

WAWARSING Young Republican challenger Ronald A. Irwin defeated a Democratic incumbent Tuesday, to take possession of a seat on the Wawarsing Town Board with three years left to run. Democrat Alvin Lipton had been appointed earlier this year to fill a vacancy on the board created by the resignation of Alex J. Nirenberg. Tuesday's tally was a close one, with the margin of victory for Irwin about 150 votes. Final figures were unavailable.

MARLBOROUGH Republican incumbent Ralph S. LoFaro handily defeated Democratic challenger Julius J. Miller to retain his post as Town of Marlborough assessor.

LoFaro had been appointed to the post earlier this year to fill a vacancy, and had to stand for election to serve out the remaining year left of the term. LoFaro got 1,228 votes; Miller got 774.

SHAWANGUNK Republican Frank Fontana edged Democrat Robert Elliot by only 63 votes in a special election for the office of assessor held in the town of Shawangunk Tuesday.

Fontana had 1,083 votes to Elliot's 1,020 in the heavily Republican town.

However, the voters will be back at the polls on Nov. 14 to decide whether the town should retain its present three assessor setup or go to a single appointed assessor. That issue was put to the townspeople three years ago with an overwhelming vote toward keeping the three assessor system.

Introducing THE SPOKE ACCOUNT

...and now SAWYER SAVINGS BANK can be your only bank

Because our banking system is now complete, you can forget about the bank you once needed for something similar to our new SPOKE accounts (Sawyer Payment Orders: Key to Economy).

WHAT ARE SPOKE ACCOUNTS?

Generally, these accounts provide a quick, convenient way to pay all your bills or to get cash. Safer than money to carry and use, they are accepted as money everywhere, and they are ideal for keeping records of important expenditures.

More specifically, in writing out each individual payment order, you are actually withdrawing funds from a no-passbook, no-interest account.

HOW DO I OPEN A SPOKE ACCOUNT?

To open your new SPOKE account, simply visit Sawyer Savings Bank and see one of our new account clerks. She will ask you to fill out a signature card and help you select from the wide assortment of payment order cover styles and colors we have available. You will then receive your free starter supply of payment orders for your new SPOKE account, along with a free Sawyer Savings Bank pen as a courtesy gift! Your fully personalized payment orders and deposit tickets will follow shortly in the mail. The minimum amount required to open a SPOKE account is $100.00. Subsequent deposits may be in any amount.

IS THERE A CHARGE FOR THIS SERVICE?

Your SPOKE account will be absolutely free of monthly charge, provided that a $200.00 balance is maintained in the account. Paid payment orders resulting in an account balance of less than $200.00 create a one-time monthly charge of $2.00. In other words, the maximum monthly charge is $2.00, depending on the balance you maintain in your account.

There will be a $2.00 charge for each "Stop Payment Order" received by us on your payment order account and a $1.00 charge for each returned payment order (for insufficient funds, signature missing, etc.) The law prohibits overdraft privileges on payment order accounts.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Realizing how difficult it is for many senior citizens to maintain a $200.00 balance in a payment order account, the above balance provisions will be waived for anyone over age 65. Simply show us your Senior Citizens Identification Card, or other proof, when you open your account.

HOW MAY I BE CERTAIN OF MY BALANCE?

Sawyer Savings Bank will send you a monthly statement of your payment order account, listing all deposits and payments from your account, along with all of your cancelled payment orders. The balance of your account will appear on your statement. This balance is easily reconcilable to your personal record in your payment order book. Additionally, any inquiries regarding your account balance will be handled quickly and cheerfully by our staff, and your answer will be an up-to-the-minute balance, not a balance that is one or two days old.

THIS IS THE ACCOUNT FOR YOU!

Sawyer Savings Bank does not require that your payment order account be "linked" in any way to a savings account. Our SPOKE accounts are available to everyone, whether or not you are presently using any of our wide range of banking services. However, if you are finding it difficult to save systematically, we will be happy to help you! All that is necessary is your signature on an authorization form, and we will transfer any predetermined amount from your SPOKE account to your Regular or Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal savings account each month. Both Regular and Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal savings accounts earn 5 1/4 % per annum at Sawyer Savings Bank, the highest rate allowed by law in New York State.

We invite you to be among the first to open a payment order account at Sawyer Savings Bank. Sawyer Savings Bank can now be your only bank. For service and satisfaction. For convenience. Forever.

RR Bond Act Approved by Wide Margin

NEW YORK (UPI) — Proposing up a large margin of expensive bond issues. sition No. 1, the $250 million votes in New York City and With 78 per cent of the rail preservation bond issue, apparently reversing the tradi-districts in, "yes" votes totaled won approval at the polls, tional upstate opposition to 1,135,777 to 649,993 "no" votes.

Upstate, Ulster Areas Vote Is Surprising

KINGSTON
Apparently oblivious to the plight of the Catskill Mountain branch line, voters in Ulster County — and throughout upstate New York, for that matter—narrowly rejected the $250 million Rail Preservation Bond Act.

But with surprisingly strong support from the New York Metropolitan area, the measure passed on the statewide ballot.

In Ulster County, with all but a few districts reporting, the rail proposition lost by a 13,184 to 12,176 margin. That slim margin was expected to hold through the remainder of the ballots, although final results weren't included with the computerized results tabulated at the Ulster County Office Building.

Because there wasn't room on the computer print-out sheets for the proposition, figures from individual districts and towns were not available.

But the vote in Ulster County, and across upstate New York in general, surprised many observers. Much of the rail proposition money has already been earmarked for improvements to branch lines and main lines that criss-cross rural New York.

Passage of the bond act means almost guaranteed survival for the 83-mile Catskill Mountain branch line, which runs between Kingston and Bloomville in Delaware County. The line has already been formally abandoned by Penn Central, although actual abandonment has been delayed for several years. There has not, however, been any actual formula prepared for the local line and the funds it can expect to receive.

In addition to the Catskill Mountain line, the rail bond will likely mean renovation of the Walkkill Valley line (between Kingston and Orange County), and the Harlem Valley Division in Dutchess County, as well as repairs to the Penn Central main line and the Rhinecliff station in Dutchess County.

The bond issue will allow the state to invest $250 million to help salvage New York's railroad service.

Surprisingly, upstate voters opposed to the bond issue were trailing bond supporters. Only two counties, Ulster and Rockland, had majorities against the proposal.

Previous bond issues—all carrying much higher price tags—have won majorities in the city but have gone down to defeat because of heavy opposition upstate.

The most notable feature of Tuesday's contest, however, was the small number of voters, such diverse groups as the state AFL-CIO, Associated Industries and the cost-conscious Citizens Public Expenditure Survey (CPES) backed the proposal.

This despite the fact that the bond issue was the only statewide proposition or amendment this year—and was positioned prominently at the top of the ballot in most areas.

The bond proposal had drawn impressive support, with endorsements from all the major party candidates. In addition,

Cooke Gains Seat

By United Press International
Democratic-Liberal nominee Justice Lawrence H. Cooke has won one of two seats on the State Court of Appeals, but the race for the remaining vacancy was still too close to call

Casino Gambling Defeated

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)
— New Jersey voters Tuesday overwhelmingly defeated a hotly contested casino gambling referendum that proponents had promised would bring tax relief to their pocketbooks but law enforcement officials claimed would encourage organized crime and loansharking.

With 5,130 of 5,461 election districts reporting statewide, it was 723,657 for and 1,097,265 against the referendum to legalize gambling casinos.
The measure was leading only in the Atlantic City resort area and in heavily populated Hudson County, across the Hudson River from Manhattan.

The highly emotional referendum was debated by bishops, mayors and law enforcement officials who were on both sides of the issue.

"The legality of casino gambling is an emotional and controversy proposal which has been discussed in New Jersey
for many years," said Gov.
Brendan T. Byrne. "This year's voters finally were given a voice and rejected casino gambling."

Pro-casino groups claimed it would revitalize this fading shore resort and provide at least 65,000 jobs in hotels, motels and construction. But opponents said it would not provide sufficient tax relief for the state.

U.S. Attorney Jonathan Goldstein said casino gambling would encourage the influx of organized crime and State
Attorney General William F.
Hyland said there was evidence that persons known to be affiliated with organized crime had been buying property and businesses in resort areas.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — As the nation's attention turns from Watergate to the economy, the headlines have become blacker with grim news. Prohibitive oil prices have thrown the economy out of whack. Outgoing energy czar John Sawhill warns that the United States has no clear policy to deal with the crisis.

The People Still Have Faith

Washington Merry-Go-Round

There are forecasts of a worldwide depression. Columnist Joseph Alsop questions whether the West can survive. Yet we have mailbags bulging with evidence that the American people have faith in their country and confidence in the future.

All we did was invite our readers to express their feelings about America in a slogan, which could be used as the official slogan for our bicentennial celebration. We offered no prizes. We simply asked for "the right words to reaffirm our faith in America."

We have been inundated with stirring slogans, which have poured into our office by the tens of thousands. Our mail has become so swamped that we have arranged with the Bicentennial Administration to use their postal box. So send your future slogans, please, to Slogans — USA, Post Office Box 1976, Washington, D.C.

The Jaycees and American Legion, meanwhile, are helping us sort out all the slogans. The Copernicus Society has also joined us in sponsoring the slogan search. As an extra incentive, the society is putting up $10,000 in prize money — $5,000 for the best slogan and $1,000 apiece for the next five.

The response to our appeal, both the slogans themselves and the accompanying letters, have been heartwarming. Despite all the shabby performances and prominent failures of leading politicians, most Americans remain upbeat about the basic worth and prospects of this country. The prevailing attitude is summed up in a slogan from the late Ernest Sipola, who died of a heart attack before he could mail it to us. He was popular in his Fortuna, Calif., hometown, according to the tributes from his friends, as a forester who loved the outdoors and had a natural ease with his neighbors.

"In going through his pockets," his widow wrote to us, "I found his handwritten theme for the Bicentennial. Ernie Sipola's slogan for America was: 'Golden Past to a Golden Future.'"

STRANGE SAGA: From secret grand jury transcripts, we have been writing the strange saga of Dr. Timothy Leary, the former saint of the psychedelic set. Today's chapter deals with his mysterious mistress.

Back in the 1960s, Leary was a Harvard psychology professor who found happiness in hallucinants and became the high priest of the drug cult. He was jailed on a marijuana rap, broke out of prison and fled to Algeria.

He drifted to Switzerland where he met a 28-year-old jet setter named Joanna Harcourt-Smith. They flew off together on a romantic odyssey and wound up in Afghanistan in the custody of U.S. authorities.

The peripatetic professor was brought back under guard to California, where the faithful Joanna has been visiting him in various prisons. She wanted to marry him, but prison rules prevented it. So she took on his name anyway.

"I changed my name in the Superior Court of California to Leary," she told the grand jury, "so Leary is my legal name."

As we reported in an earlier column Leary has made a dramatic break with his past and has turned against the drug cult. It is uncertain from the grand jury transcripts whether he enlisted her or she persuaded him to cooperate with federal narcotics agents. But she helped agents get evidence against Leary's former lawyer, George Chula, who has pleaded innocent to a drug indictment.

"Is Mr. Leary aware of what you were doing at the time you were doing it?" Los Angeles District Attorney Art Koelle asked Joanna. "Yes, sir," she replied. She had worked with the agents, she said, "in the hopes" it would help Leary. But she added fiercely that she didn't like the people in the drug culture.

"I found 99.9 per cent of them to be dishonest, lying people," she said, "not telling the truth and not knowing where they were coming and where they were going."

She told about sniffing cocaine with Chula through rolled-up $100 bills. "And then he gets up," she testified, "and he says, 'Let's do this in style,' and he pulls out a hundred-dollar bill from his pocket and then he starts rolling the hundred bill. Then he says, 'You put it in your nose and take it.'"

The ritual, complete with the $100 bill, was repeated on other occasions, she swore. Shortly before his arrest she lectured him on the evils of cocaine.

"I took this opportunity to tell him," she testified, "that it was very bad to take that much cocaine or any cocaine, because it just makes you see life in a crazy way and you are seeing crazy things."

Needless Fish Kill

The massive fish kill that took place last week was as needless as it was disheartening. At a time when all of us are becoming more aware of our natural treasures, the unthinking killing of 10,000 fish points out quite clearly that a better system of control of the New York City Water Department must be devised.

State Environmentalist Commissioner James Biggane has already petitioned Attorney-General Louis Lefkowitz to take appropriate action in this matter. What happened was the portal at Allaben was abruptly closed by Water Department personnel and thousands of fish were left to die. A more gradual closing would have allowed the trout, walleyes, and pan fish to survive.

Area conservationists have traditionally fought against New York City's arbitrary and high-handed method of mandating this area's reservoirs and streams, claiming that such valuable streams as the Neversink have been irretrievably damaged because of the city's careless policies. They also fear that such plentiful fisheries as the Esopus and the Delaware and its branches may suffer grave damage.

Now that the alarm has been sounded convincingly after last week's episode, let's hope that a more intelligent policy will be invoked.

Electricity Saving

The secret of effective large-scale energy conservation through individual effort may lie in gimmicks — ways of getting citizens emotionally caught up in the challenge to use less fuel and electricity. Admonition alone cannot be expected to do the trick, certainly; most people require more incentive than they get from sober reminders to turn off the lights and use less hot water.

One of the best gimmicks we've heard so far is reported from the town of Palatine, Ill. There a number of young families — 11 at latest count — have formed what they call the Kill-a-Watt Club to dramatize their energy-saving.

Kill-a-Watt members will get together for a pot-luck dinner every couple of months, with the biggest electricity user during that period playing host. The family using the least electricity gets to take part in the festivities without bringing anything for the table.

This is not exactly the master solution for the energy crisis, granted. We are still riding a hunch that no amount of volunteer effort is going to do the job — that as Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill stressed before his forced resignation there will have to be legally required energy conservation as well. But the Kill-a-Watt Club sounds like a pleasant way to encourage concerted energy saving. If the idea were to catch on widely it should bring about a substantial reduction in electricity use.

New Look at Death Penalty

It is gratifying that the Supreme Court, in agreeing to review a North Carolina murder case, has undertaken to have another look at capital punishment. Though the court may again sidestep the basic question whether the death penalty is in itself a violation of the constitutional stricture against cruel and unusual punishment, further light certainly will be shed on certain aspects of the matter.

Further light has been badly needed since the court's 1972 ruling that the death penalty is unconstitutional when administered unequally. More than half the states have passed new laws seeking to conform to this decision, and now the question is whether those laws are constitutional. It will be good to have this resolved, even if the court does not reach the larger question as to the legality of capital punishment under any circumstances.

Confident

Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, long one of the most charismatic American prelates in the Roman Catholic Church, has lost neither his charm nor his talent for intriguing utterances. In Indianapolis the other day he said,

"When I go to heaven, I'll rest a day or two and then ask the good Lord to send me back."

Which suggests that one other element in Archbishop Sheen's makeup remains undiminished: confidence.

Berry's World

Here's a suggestion from a former Johnson side — Why don't you go around the White House and turn out lights, like LBJ used to do?

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — One deep irony of the Arab summit conference in Rabat last week is that, from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger on down, no one here was slipped even a clue that the entire Arab world would unite behind the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), including that longtime, steadfast ally of the U.S., King Hussein of Jordan.

Indeed, the pledge from Saudi Arabia's King Faisal of an annual $300 million subsidy to Hussein from his pyramiding oil treasures, plus military and other aid, was not considered a practical possibility. Its effect is to drastically reduce the already waning American influence over Jordan at a worsening time.

There was, moreover, a strong implication in the Rabat communiqué that Hussein's sovereignty over the east bank of the Jordan River — the half of his kingdom not in Palestine proper — has been given some sort of guarantee by the major Arab powers, a guarantee he needs.

The implications of this, together with the PLO's emergence as uncontested claimant to the historic Arab territory of the west bank, are stupendous: either Israel finally decides to run the risk of serious west bank negotiations with the PLO and its three bargaining partners (Jordan, Egypt and Syria) or a war infinitely more dangerous than 1967 or 1973 will become unavoidable within six months.

Ever since it seized the west bank in the six-day war of 1967 Israel has filibustered all efforts by Washington to push it into negotiations with Hussein over returning the territory (which is packed) with Palestinian Arabs Israel could never absorb). Now the bitter fruit of that policy has ripened.

Israel's refusal to engage in good faith bargaining with Hussein became the underlying reason by itself for Hussein's backdown — under pressure from major Arab states — from his long proclaimed insistence that only he could attain territorial concessions from Israel. After seven and a half long years, he got nothing.

Now, Kissinger faces particularly ugly choices.

Unless the U.S. agrees that the PLO does indeed represent the west bank, and compels a similar, radical policy switch in Israel, the deal on Kissinger's efforts to negotiate piece meal settlements of the Egyptian Sinai and the Syrian Golan Heights will continue indefinitely.

But stalling diplomatic progress at this stage can lead only to military conflict, and this time all American experts agree that it would take a miracle to prevent involvement by the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

We have begged and implored and warned the Israelis for years to negotiate a return of the west bank with Hussein. One of these policymakers told us. Indeed, some diplomats even considered exacting a price from Israel for the airlift of American weapons during the first week of last October's war: a commitment by Israel to return most of the Arab territory conquered in 1967.

Now, however, Kissinger's area for diplomatic maneuver has been dangerously shrunk by the new unity of the whole Arab world on the west bank question. Now there seems no possible way to avoid putting the issue to Israel in stronger terms than ever before.

That issue, as perceived by specialists here, has nothing to do with selling out Israel, as Western Europe sold out Czechoslovakia in 1938 to Hitler's Germany. Rather, the issue is whether Israel, by acknowledging the new reality on the west bank, will make it possible for Kissinger to continue to negotiate a return of the Arab lands still under Israeli military occupation.

Israeli politicians are now proclaiming that they will never deal with "murderers" and "terrorists" — their definition of Arafat's PLO. They recognize only Hussein as a suitable bargaining partner on the west bank. That is the same Hussein who has now been driven out of the west bank precisely because he could never pin Israel down to any territorial concessions.

For the U.S., the cost of the long, intimate Israeli connection is growing a bit higher every day. There is no reason to doubt the connection will remain intimate, even though some of President Ford's policymakers say privately it involves ever-gravering risks to other American interest far beyond Israel.

Pandering to Public Appetites

The book controversy in West Virginia is one small step backward for man. The violence and bombing to eradicate a nattering edge of sex in textbooks is but one time in a sharp literary pitchfork. Let us concede that the youngsters are going to learn the facts of life in class or at the coarse dissertations heard in all locker rooms.

Man has a few items in common with all animals: survival, stomach, sex. These are primary interests. To live to feed, to love are so important that, presented with the threat of deprivation, man becomes a maniacal or melancholy.

I am convinced that parents who try to keep their young "innocent" as long as possible are secretly ashamed of their sex lives as "dirty." To enjoy and be disgusted is impossible to sustain emotionally.

At the opposite end of the spectrum, we have a general book trade which is selling more raw sex to more parents for more money than the publishers can count. The tastes of the nation can best be gauged by the fact that how-to sex books, many poorly conceived and written, outsell history and biography on the best-seller lists.

It is not the children who are spending $7.95 to $12.50 for mellifluous garbage. Adults demand them, even though the subject is exhausted. Nor is it necessary to go to so-called porno shops to buy them. The prissiest of the 5,000 American bookshops has them on display.

In other days many publishers prided themselves on something called character. Harper & Row; Scribner; Little, Brown; Lippincott and others published novels and non-fiction which, in the judgment of the editors, were well written, well researched, and deserved to be published.

Prestige books, such as Fairfield Osborn's "Plunder of the Planet," or Leonote de Nuoy's "Human Destiny," were put in print, even though the publisher might lose money on the deal, because the first was one of the early books on ecology and the second closed the gap between cold science and a warm God.

The editors have submerged and drowned their principles. They pay good advances to semi-literate writers who expose the Mafia. Why? Because no matter what the author says, hoodlums never sue for libel. In my estimation, good writers like Norman Mailer and Gore Vidal debate their talents by writing "novelized" biographies of Marilyn Monroe and Aaron Burr.

The reader is buying an admixture of fact and fiction. Scores of motion picture and television stars capitalize on their notoriety by rapping out what they would like to regard, as autobiographies. None are so blind as the ego-trippers. Blunt truth is a self-inflicted wound.

The worst of the lot are the prostitutes of the trade, the writers who accept money to write a book about an industrialist or an industry. In this group we also find that rare culture, the one who writes a "political expose" made up of old newspaper clippings and ancient innuendos about a candidate, paid for by his opponent, or his opponent's buddies.

I can think of one "dirty" book that I read and enjoyed. It is called "Lenny Bruce" and was written by Albert Goldman and Lawrence Sanders. Bruce a drug addict, was a dirty comic in two earlier decades. The book is the best "show biz" biography I have ever read.

It details, in viable prose, the decline and fall of a brilliant Brooklyn boy. The pills, the women, the cocaine, the heroin, the hunger for fame are painted in their proper settings. At no point is the book dirty for the sheer delight of dragging sex in by the heels.

The same talent might have been applied to writing a biography of a more noted comic, Jack Benny. But I assure you that Jack Benny will not sell like Lenny Bruce.

Thus we are left with the sinister notion that biographers and editors must ask themselves, "What will sell?" before spending a couple of years on a book.

If it is true that we get the kind of government we deserve, it is equally true that publishers pander to the tastes of the nation's readers. Alex Comfort wrote "The Joy of Sex" and Masters and Johnson presented their clinical findings in sexual habits.

Which would you expect outsold the other: "The Joy of Sex" with explicit drawings of men and women, or the graph charts of Masters and Johnson tracing the incidence of the so-called missionary position?

No contest. The lesson applies to the parents of West Virginia. The more sexual doors you slam, the more you encourage the young to become lock pickers. Think back to when you were 16, 17 and 18. You were scared and daring, and that's a dangerous combination...

Bell's Defeat Shocks Ulster County GOP

By JON POWERS

It rained off and on Tuesday night; a cold and dreary drizzle that matched the mood inside the Ulster County Republican Headquarters on Fair Street.

Party workers knew in advance that the news would be bad on Election Night, but none were prepared for the shock that came when Assemblyman H. Clark Bell lost to Democratic challenger Maurice Hinchey.

"It's really terrible. It's just tragic," said one woman. "I don't believe this is happening."

Bell apparently didn't believe it at first either. He arrived at party headquarters shortly after 10 p.m. His mouth set in a tight, grim line, he shook a few hands and then huddled over early returns with campaign aides.

"It's still early, but it doesn't look good," he said a few minutes later. "It's the trend all over the country. That's the way it goes."

Bell headed across the street to the Ulster County Office Building, where the official returns were being tabulated. It didn't look much better over there. With Hinchey building to a 1,500 vote plurality, Bell conceded defeat.

Much later, standing on the steps of the Dutch Rathskeller, the Woodstock Assemblyman appeared dejected, but philosophical. Asked what the future now holds, he replied, "We'll talk about that later."

His wife, Joy, was less subdued. "Ulster County has just lost a great Assemblyman," she said, "but Ulster County's loss is my gain. It will be nice to have him around the house and pick-up trucks — horns blaring and emblazoned with 'Mayone for Sheriff' signs — snaked through the streets of uptown Kingston."

While Bell and his wife headed down the street, one of the few Republican victory celebrations that night was just beginning. A caravan of cars and trucks — horns blaring and emblazoned with "Mayone for Sheriff" signs — snaked through the streets of uptown Kingston.

Thomas Mayone helped salvage what otherwise would have been a tragic night for county Republicans. His victory over incumbent Sheriff William B. Martin helped take some of the sting out of Bell's unexpected defeat.

Republican party workers — who traditionally hold court at the Ulster County Office Building while Election Night results are compiled — didn't have much to cheer about Tuesday until Mayone and his entourage arrived late in the evening. Forgetting about earlier disappointments, Republicans crowded around the new Sheriff-elect as he inched his way through the jammed corridors. It was their only real chance to cheer all night, and they didn't let the opportunity slip by.

There were no celebrations across the street, however. Huge posters of Republican candidates were bathed in darkness as campaign workers silently dimmed the lights and filed out of party headquarters. In previous years, the festivities would just be starting.

Dems' Man of the Hour

It's been a long time since Democrats in Ulster County have had a chance to cheer. They made up for it Tuesday night with a celebration that started early and ended very, very late.

The Hugh Carey-Mary Anne Krupsak team swamped their Republican opponents; Democrats made significant gains in the New York State Assembly and Senate, as well as the New York Congressional delegation. Nationwide, the Democratic Party scored victory after victory.

But the man of the hour for local party faithful was Maurice Hinchey, the hard-working, soft-spoken professional educator who scored a surprising — if not stunning — victory over incumbent Republican Assemblyman H. Clark Bell.

Before the polls closed at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Hinchey campaign workers expressed optimism that their man would win. But that's all part of the game; politicians and their supporters are always "optimistic" before the hour of judgment arrives. It wasn't until 9:30 p.m., when early results showed that Hinchey had captured two traditionally Republican wards in the city, that the excitement started to mount.

It built steadily from then on. By the time Hinchey's plurality had reached 1,000 the cramped Democratic headquarters on Clinton Avenue was a sea of backslapping, grinning party workers.

If Hinchey's victory wasn't enough, a small portable television carried more good news for Democrats from Maine to Hawaii. Word of each Democratic victory spread quickly throughout the room and then out to the sidewalk where a larger crowd of party workers assembled.

Although you'd never know it Tuesday night, some local Democrats didn't fare so well at the ballot box. Nicholas Angell, Alex Nirenberg, King James Weyant, John Dow, William Freer and Sheriff William B. Martin all came up losers.

But those defeats didn't seem to dim the enthusiasm. "Nirenberg and Weyant were lost causes from the very start," said one Democrat, "and I just couldn't bring myself to vote for Martin. But we got the big one. We got Bell."

And the man who "got Bell" also received a thunderous ovation when he walked into the Gov. Clinton Hotel Tuesday night, the site of a jubilant, night-long victory celebration. Hinchey was mobbed by friends and supporters who offered praise, congratulations and endless toasts. He was clearly the man of the hour — the man who gave county Democrats their first taste of victory after a long and painful dry spell.

Democrats Take Over Control Of Assembly

NEW YORK (UPI) — Democrats were swept into power in the Assembly while Republicans managed to cling to control of the State Senate as the results of Tuesday's general election were tabulated today.

In the Assembly, unofficial results showed Democrats picking up at least 86 seats, eight more than necessary to control that chamber and an 18-seat increase over the past session.

The Senate races, with four still undecided, showed the GOP holding a lead of 32 seats to 24 for the Democrats. During the 1974 session, the Republicans had enjoyed a commanding 37 to 21 margin, with two seats vacant.

The outcome, coupled with the landslide victory of Hugh L. Carey as governor, snaps a five-year rein of GOP control over the Senate, Assembly and Executive chambers of state government.

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea of Montauk was re-elected but Majority Leader John E. Kingston was the victim of a stunning upset. Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson of Binghamton won his re-election bid despite a spirited showing by his Democratic challenger.

When the results in the Assembly became certain, a Duryea spokesman said "We have lost enough seats that we should have maintained that we can't come up with enough to stay in the majority."

Democrat Stanley Steingut of Brooklyn, who has been minority leader in the Assembly, appears likely to become the next speaker, barring an intra-party squabble for power.

The victory marks only the third time in the past 40 years that Democrats have controlled the Assembly. They were voted into power in 1935 and again held sway from 1964 through 1968.

Anderson, who defeated Democrat Donald W. Kramer, blamed the defeat of Gov. Malcolm Wilson and the Republican loss of the Assembly on "a political climate which was beyond origin or control in New York State."

Anderson, who now becomes the most powerful Republican in the state, said he was "mindful of demonstrated desire... of the people to tell a check and balance over the Democrats through a Republican controlled Senate."

Kingston was defeated by about 3,000 votes for the seat in the 15th Assembly District. Late last year, he and several other Republicans, including Duryea, were named in indictments accusing them of participating in an alleged vote siphoning scheme. The charges were dismissed when a judge ruled the law was constitutionally vague.

The Democratic leadership in the Senate will also change next year — but, for all purposes, that issue was decided in September when Assemblyman Franz Leichter upset Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretski.

Man Killed in Train-Car Accident

KINGSTON, City police identified the dead man as Frank Edwards, 64, of an elderly Dutchess County man was killed late Tuesday afternoon in Kingston when his car was struck by a train at a guarded railroad crossing on Penn Central train to the crossing. Police said witnesses to the down, and then his car stopped in the middle of the tracks right in the path of the oncoming train. He reportedly drove around the crossing gates, which were portedly attempted to stop, but to police. The car was pushed into a utility pole, police said, and Edwards was crushed between the car and the pole. He was pronounced dead at the scene of the 4:20 p.m. mishap. Police identified the engineer on the train at Peter Staats, 27, of Rensselaer. Authorities said witnesses told them both the warning lights and the gates at the crossing were working when the crash occurred. It was not immediately known whether Edwards panicked once he drove onto the tracks, or whether his car stalled. According to one unconfirmed report, the man was attempting to get out of his car when the train plowed into it. Meanwhile, a Rhinebeck youth was hospitalized early today after becoming involved in a bicycle-car accident. Timothy A. Bollenbecker, 16, of Route 9G, Rhinebeck was listed in satisfactory condition at Northern Dutchess Hospital after being admitted. Police said he rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by John E. Gallagher of Red Hook on Route 308 in the Village of Rhinebeck at about 7:15 a.m. No summonses were issued.

RETIRING — Henry E. Peterson, his government career clouded during its last two years by charges he cooperated with the White House on narrowing the Watergate investigation, is retiring from the Justice Department, it was announced Tuesday in Washington. Peterson, was head of the Criminal Division and was in charge of original investigation of Watergate break-in until the special prosecutor's force was formed. White House conversations between Pres. Nixon and aides indicated that Peterson was reporting the progress of investigation to the President. (UPI)

Sale of LSD Tablets Leads to Arrest

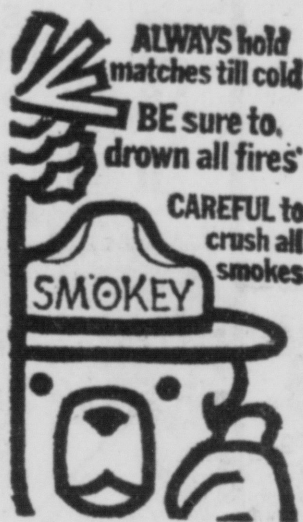

LAKE HILL drug by state police Tuesday. An unemployed Lake Hill mechanic was charged with felony sale of an hallucinogenic substance. A search of the man's residence subsequently uncovered an estimated $12,000 worth of cocaine, LSD and marijuana. Police said. Arlington Arthur Finch, 28, of Box 83, Van Hoagland Road, Lake Hill, has been charged with criminal sale of a controlled substance in the second degree. Both felony charges carry possible maximum sentences of from more than eight years to life in prison with conviction. Further charges are pending, state police said. Police said drugs confiscated in connection with the arrest included more than one ounce of cocaine, 7,000 tablets of LSD and an estimated 16 pounds of marijuana. Finch was taken into custody Tuesday morning immediately after allegedly selling the 1,000 tablets of LSD to an undercover trooper for about $700, authorities said. Police then obtained a search warrant for Finch's residence, where they allegedly found the remaining drugs and a quantity of drug paraphernalia. BCI investigators said. Authorities estimated the value of the cocaine seized at about $1,600, the LSD at about $6,000, and the marijuana at over $5,000. Investigators said the arrest culminated a lengthy investigation, adding that further arrests are expected in connection with the probe. Finch was confined in Ulster County Jail without bail following arraignment before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten.

The Democratic Sweep No Surprise on Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — The sweep by Democratic candidates was no surprise to the financial community, which is now bracing for new demands for wage and price controls to fight inflation. "Everyone must have been anticipating a Democratic victory, of greater or lesser proportions," said Saul Smierling, a veteran stock market analyst. Smierling predicted Tuesday a Democratic landslide would be temporarily unsettling but wouldn't "knock the spots off the market." He also said the gains by Democrats in Congress, at least at the outset, could bring stronger demands for wage and price controls. That prospect brought little favorable reaction. "The worst thing would be if we had controls," said Lucien Hooper, a stock analyst with 40 years on Wall Street. But he said both parties "are more afraid of recession and depression" than inflation. Hooper said this could discourage pressure for wage and price controls. Economists generally view controls as a tool to keep wages and prices down in an inflationary period but ineffective against recession or depression when expansion is sought. Most economists now believe the economy is in a recession, complicated by unabated inflation.

King Hussein Moves On His Pledge to PLO

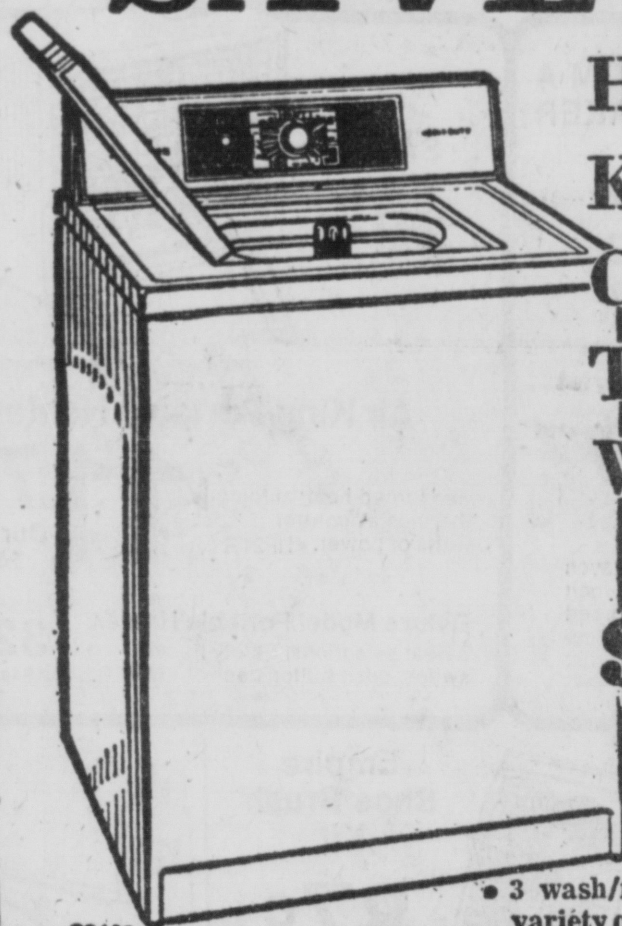

By United Press International King Hussein has announced plans to overhaul the Jordanian constitution to give Palestinian guerrillas, once his bitter enemies, the right to the Israeli-occupied half of his divided kingdom. Hussein said Tuesday he would call both houses of parliament into special session to fulfill his promise at last week's Arab summit conference to recognize guerrilla authority over the West Bank region. Political sources in Amman said parliament would be dissolved after Saturday's session approves a new constitution excluding the West Bank from Jordanian sovereignty. The sources said all officials of the new parliament and cabinet will be East Bank residents. Half the current cabinet ministers and members of parliament come from the West Bank, where some 670,000 Palestinians live. The move will be Hussein's first step in fulfilling his agreement with other Arab leaders last week to renounce Jordan's claim to West Bank lands seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East War. The Arab summit in Morocco called for the Palestine Liberation Organization to set up a state on the West Bank and Gaza strip if Israel gives up the regions. Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin Tuesday rejected any dealings with the PLO, which he branded a terrorist organization "whose avowed policy is to strive for Israel's destruction and whose method is terrorist violence." Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conferred with Egyptian leaders in Cairo today before flying to Saudi Arabia, the second stop on a two-day, five-nation peace mission. He was also scheduled to visit Jordan, Syria and Israel.

POUGHKEEPSIE weeks that the market operated. The Farmers Market in downtown Poughkeepsie has completed its first, and highly successful season, according to the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce. The market has been sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce, the Dutchess County Cooperative Extension Agency, and the Queen-City Model-City Committee. It is planned that the market will reopen in the spring of next year, probably in June, as soon as the farmers have produce to sell. Announcements will be made at that time.

PEEKSKILL Trustees, will speak to students at St. Mary's and St. John's at 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 8. Dr. Puleston, ornithologist, naturalist, artist and author, sailed around the world in a 31-foot yawl. His talk and slide presentation is open to the public, beginning at 3 p.m.

Approximately 35 trustees of EDF, a nationwide coalition of scientists, lawyers and citizens dedicated to protection and improvement of environmental quality through legal action and public education, will be present for the Peekskill meetings. Membership in EDF includes a volunteer Scientists Advisory Committee of more than 800, a Legal Advisory Committee, a litigation staff of nine lawyers and three scientists, and a public membership of more than 50,000. Dr. Dennis Puleston, founding chairman of EDF and a member of the Board of

Ellenville Tables Vehicle Law

ELLENVILLE The Ellenville Village Board Monday night tabled until its next meeting consideration of proposed Local Law No. 1 governing disposition of abandoned vehicles.

A representative of Bob's 209 Sales, which handles abandoned vehicles for the village, said he favored changing the law, which now calls for notifying owners before vehicles are towed away, and substituting the new local law, which would have the vehicles towed away before the owners are notified.

Board members decided to postpone action to give Village Attorney Alex Nirenberg time to clear up several legal questions about liability for charges incurred in disposing of abandoned vehicles.

Village Manager Modris Pukulis said he had discussed a possible dissolution of the village with Herbert Hekler, director of the Ulster County Planning Board. The village board at its last meeting directed Pukulis to make a study, including the availability of federal and state funds to aid in the study.

Trustee David Sandler said

then that the village presently has a duplication of services and personnel with the Town of Wawarsing, saying he was not now advocating disincorporation but wanted to be informed on it.

Trustee David Kramer, vice chairman of the Ellenville Housing Authority, asked for a correction on reports that the Housing Authority office upstairs in the Village Hall is not open at all times. The office will be open from 3:5 p.m. daily Monday through Friday, with a clerk on hand to accept applications for both senior citizen and public housing, Kramer said.

Kramer also emphasized that, contrary to reports, all decisions on applications would be made only by the five members of the Authority.

In other action, the board set two public hearings in conjunction with its next meeting Nov. 18. One will concern Local Law No. 2, which would establish a stop sign at the Roselyn Street-Lake Drive intersection. The other concerns Local Law No. 3, governing certificates of rental safety for rented residential apartment

'They Can Kill All Of Us'

CHINH TAM, South Vietnam (UPI)—The body of the 19-year-old boy, carefully wrapped in white sheets, lay on a table in the center of Chinh Tam's village square.

"Blood will be repaid in blood," says a hand-scrawled sign nearby.

Nguyen Van Cuong was one of 3,000 villagers gathered in front of Chinh Tam's Roman Catholic church three days ago to protest government land deals with wealthy businessmen in the area.

Witnesses said police ordered the demonstrators to go home and then fired directly into the crowd with M16 rifles. The soldiers also fired tracer bullets at nearby homes, setting 10 buildings ablaze.

The teen-aged victim was shot in the head. A woman was also killed. Two other persons were wounded, a young girl critically.

The village priest, Hoang Kim Dien, lined up a collection of rifle shells by Cuong's body to "prove it was all police fire. We have no arms at all."

The embattled government of President Nguyen Van Thieu, fearing the incident could become a rallying cry for the growing discontent against Thieu, said the shooting never happened.

But the people who live in the small village, 70 miles east of Saigon, have vowed to avenge the deaths.

Chinh Tam is mainly populated by Catholic refugees who fled North Vietnam 20 years ago. They are outspoken anti-Communists but have been increasingly critical of Thieu, a southerner who became a Catholic convert.

"They can kill all of us," an angry villager said. "We are not afraid."

Home Loans On Upswing

Home improvement loan volume is expanding significantly faster than total installment loan volume, the associate director of the American Bankers Association's (ABA) Installment Lending Division reports.

"A comparison of loan volume between the first seven months of 1973 and 1974 shows home improvement loans increased 11 per cent while total installment credit expanded only three per cent," Alan R. Ettman said.

Ettman said the gains in the home improvement area are the result of the severe stress inflation has put on the home buyer, builder and lender.

"Because of increasing home and mortgage costs, more and more people are choosing to improve their present homes rather than step up to a larger, more expensive home."

"As long as money is tight and inflation continues to bite into family income, this trend is likely to continue."

At the end of the first seven months of 1974, total consumer credit volume was $98.948 billion, compared to $96.175 billion for the same period in 1973, Ettman said. Home improvement loan volume for the same 1974 period was $2.962 billion compared with $2.671 billion at the end of July 1973.

Highland Homes for Mid-Income Budgets

HIGHLAND of the costs required in building Sunny Brook townhomes in detached single-family homes, Highland are designed and Steinfield points out, and at the priced for mid-income budgets, same time provides spacious homes in environmentally attractive surroundings at modest prices. And this is just what Cluster housing curtails many has been done in the 270-unit Sunny Brook community on Toca Road. Another advantage at the cluster-style Sunny Brook townhome community, Steinfield explains, is the inclusion of recreation facilities for residents' use, which includes a Tudor-style two-story meeting room, cozy lounge with fireplace, catering kitchen and large swimming pool surrounded with spacious patio. Clustered in groupings of six and eight units, the Sunny Brook townhomes feature attractive English Tudor and Colonial styling. In rustic scenic location, U.S.H. Corporation has taken care to keep the natural beauty by retaining trees and shrubbery as a natural buffer between streets and around the townhomes. Thus, nature's own screen adds to the privacy and filters out unwanted noise, providing an alive, ever-growing and beautiful environment. Open for viewing are a variety of one- and two-level model townhomes featuring one to four bedrooms and one to two and one-half baths. They are mid-income priced from $27,990 with low down payments.

WARMING TREND—Midas, the nationwide chain of franchised automotive service centers, has added a new "muffler" to their product line—one that won't keep your car quiet but will keep your neck warm. The fashionable black-and-gold Midas "muffler" is five feet long, fringe-to-fringe, and "fits virtually every make and model neck," Midas says.

Madam Victor In Nevada Race

LIDA JUNCTION, Nev. (UPI) — Beverly Harrell, 45, a bordello madam who campaigned in her desert district by dropping in on saloons and small general stores, was elected to the Nevada legislature Tuesday.

Ms. Harrell, who became the first bawdy house proprietor to be elected to a post in Nevada, scored a narrow victory over Don Moody, a service station operator in an Assembly race. Both are Democrats. No Republican tried for the job.

The district covers 25,000 square miles, mostly desert, and Ms. Harrell frequently made her campaign speeches in taverns. Buying drinks for the house was standard practice.

Philharmonic VIP Concert Slated for Friday at KHS

Beth Zimet, cellist of Woodstock, will be heard in the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Virtuosi-in-Progress concert at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 8, at Kingston High School.

She will perform two movements of Boccherini's Concerto for Cello and Orchestra, with Luis Garcia-Renart conducting.

Admission to the concert, which will last approximately one hour, also includes admission to an 8:30 dress rehearsal of an HVP concert that will otherwise not be heard in the Kingston area. Other works performed will be the Overture to Coriolanus, by Beethoven, El Amor Brujo by de Falla, and the last movement of Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D-Major. Tickets may be purchased from music departments in Kingston schools, Abrams Music Store, Kingston Music Center, or at the door before the performance.

Mrs. H. Henry Staley Awarded Sweepstakes Trophy

Mrs. H. Henry Staley of Rhinebeck participated in the Fall Chrysanthemum Show of the New York Horticultural Society held in Webster Hall on West 58th Street, New York City, and won the Sweepstakes Trophy for the day in the Artistic Section receiving four firsts for her four entries.

In Class I: My Own, a creative design entitled

Double Vision, she used a double opening container with two bases, two philodendron and two cycas palm leaves, and two blooms of the bearded prorea against a red suede background.

For Class II: Vegetables and Fruit, her exhibit consisted of green and white flowering kale, parsley, green tomatoes in variety and white pearl onions in a Hogarth Curve formation against a white nubby cloth background.

For Class III, An Event, Mrs. Staley depicted "Safari in Africa," using a wooded carved Watutsi warrior as an accessory with castor bean stem and foliage, burnt wood base and root against a jungle green background. Her exhibit, October in Miniature, used bittersweet tendrils and fruit with miniature barberry foliage, a cluster of pyracantha berries and a miniature squirrel on a raised base against a blue felt background.

Banquet, Dance Planned by NAACP

The sixth annual banquet and dance sponsored by the Ellenville Chapter of the NAACP will be held at the Fallsview Hotel Sunday, Nov. 17 at 6 p.m. Dr. Marjorie Butler, head of the Department of Black Studies at State University College at New Paltz, will discuss the current status of educational opportunities at college for Black students. V. Anthony Percoco, guidance counselor at Ellenville High School, will serve as master of ceremonies for the occasion. Top entertainment and dancing will round out the evening.

Tickets will be available at the First National Bank and Trust Company in Ellenville, the Ellenville National Bank, Matthews Drug Store in Ellenville, or from Freda C. Whibby, corresponding secretary of the NAACP, 31 Tuthill Avenue, Ellenville.

Doing The Right Thing By Elizabeth Post

© 1974 The Emily Post Institute, Inc. Distributed by the Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a check-out girl in a family-owned supermarket. We care very much about giving good service, and all the checkers work hard to move people through fast. But we could do better if our customers were aware of ways they could help. I wonder if you would be interested in printing these two suggestions in your column in the interest of promoting better supermarket etiquette.

First, customers who start to pack a big order while the checker is ringing up the rest of it can save several minutes for those behind them. Second, it helps tremendously if people place cans, boxes, etc., with the stamped price up so the checker doesn't spend valuable seconds searching for it.

Jennifer to reprint these suggestions, which I have mentioned from time to time.

Thank you for your effort to improve shoppers' manners!

Dear Mrs. Post: I know that a lady sits on the right side of the back seat in a chauffeur driven car, but if the car is owned by a gentleman where does he sit if he is with his wife or with a female friend?

J. Cunningham

Dear Mr. Cunningham: Rules about seating and manners in chauffeur driven cars are so infrequently needed today, that I had to go back to an old edition of "Etiquette" to find them!

A lady owner does sit on the right, as you said. A gentleman owner sits in that seat if he is alone since it is considered the "best" or "honor" seat. However if he is with a female — either his wife or a friend — he gives her the right-hand side and sits on her left, even though, in some instances it may mean that he must climb past her to the far side.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen and its answer will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

La Leche Couple Series Meeting Is Scheduled Here

On Friday at 8 p.m., LaLeche League of Kingston will hold its third couples series meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Usticke, 98 Clifton Avenue, Kingston. The Couples Series meetings are designed to bring the father into the total family picture of nursing and childrearing, and it is with this in mind that the Couples Series was initiated.

"Women only" meetings will run simultaneously with the couples series, and they are held the third Tuesday of each month at the home of Mrs. Susan Rowan, 6 Rose Lane, Saugerties; and the last Wednesday of each month at the home of Mrs. Ginger Malloy, 36 Alcazar Avenue, Kingston.

Leading the discussion at the Couples Series will be Mrs. Pan Usticke, who founded the Kingston League in 1970. Co-leading will be Mrs. Ruth Scogna, also of Kingston. Supporting leaders will be Mrs. Linda Donaldson, Saugerties, and Mrs. Cheri Andrews of Rosendale. The Couples Series will run the second Friday of each month for four months. Topics include: Advantages of Breastfeeding; The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties; Baby Arrives; and Nutrition and Weaning. The meeting on November 8 will concern itself with childbirth, the hospital stay, the father's role, and helping other children adjust to the new arrival. Anyone wishing detailed information regarding the meetings should contact one of the aforementioned leaders.

Greenfield-Buboltz Betrothal Told

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Carol Lynn Greenfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greenfield of 118 Fieldmore Street, Elmont, N.Y., to Leo F. Buboltz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Buboltz Sr. of 10 Hilton Place, Kingston.

Miss Greenfield graduated from Elmont Memorial High School in 1968 and is a 1974 graduate of State University College at New Paltz.

Her fiancé, a 1951 graduate of Kingston High School, served four years with the U.S. Marine Corps. He graduated from Ulster County Community College in 1970 and attended New Paltz State University. He is employed as a draftsman by De Laval Separator Corporation at Poughkeepsie.

A February, 1975 wedding is planned.

Support Urged For Hospital Dinner

"We're looking forward to a spectacular evening on Sunday, Nov. 24 at the Homowack Lodge," said Arthur C. Chipp and Leo E. Rosick, co-chairmen of the Ellenville Community Hospital 50th Anniversary Dinner Dance.

The event will honor the hospital auxiliary.

"This is the only fund raising program undertaken by the hospital Board of Trustees each year. Together with sustaining membership dues and gifts from the auxiliary, the funds raised help provide the hospital with necessary new equipment and services," the chairmen pointed out.

"The hospital has provided service to thousands of residents and has become a source of confidence to the entire community and to visitors alike. To continue to maintain high standards of patient care and to provide the latest diagnostic and therapeutic equipment, community support is vital." "We'd like to see every one who can afford it at the dinner. Traditionally the Sunday before Thanksgiving event, is the social highlight of the fall season, and well worth the amount of the gift to the hospital."

Reservations for the dinner dance may be made by contacting any member of the hospital board, or by phoning Evald Bors-Koefoed, hospital administrator.

Those who wish to, may arrange complete tables of eight, 10, or 12 people. Those who do not indicate seating preferences will be seated congenially by the committee. A special table will be reserved for single men and women who may secure tickets.

"Early reservations facilitate the seating arrangements," according to committee members. "Those who are planning to attend are urged to respond as soon as possible."

Tiny Tips

Homebaked Gifts

It's a warm and lovely gesture to give presents made in your own kitchen. Cookies, coffee cakes, quick and yeast breads are possibilities. It's nice, too, to present these in appropriate containers to make the gifts even more desirable. Consider glass or metal canisters for the cookie assortments, baking pans for coffee cakes or breads or bread boards for saran wrapped coffee braids or loaves.

Cottage Chees

Did you know that cottage cheese first won popularity as a breakfast food? Hungry Dutch burghers in New Amsterdam, during the 17th century, spread their bread with cottage cheese. It's still a great treat for breakfast toast or muffins and comes in at 15 calories per tablespoon as compared with most spreads which run 100 per tablespoon.

Whipped Butter

Whipped butter cannot be substituted for butter, as it is called for in recipes for cakes and cookies. That's because air has been incorporated into butter and there is actually less butter in the product that's whipped.

93RD BIRTHDAY—Mrs. DeVall (Minnie) Howard, a resident at the Benedictine Residence for Senior Citizens for the past four years, celebrated her 93rd birthday Nov. 5. Born in Kingston, Mrs. Howard formerly resided at 697 Broadway. Both she and her husband worked for a number of years at McBride's Drug Store. Her only child, a son DeVall (Buz) Howard who predeceased her, was employed at Hercules Powder Company and lived in Port Ewen. Mrs. Howard is a life member of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. She is also a member of the Golden Age Club and regularly attends its meetings. Congratulatory messages were received from President Ford and Governor Wilson. (Freeman photo by Krhu)

Folk Dance Workshop At Woodstock Town Hall

RON SANDERS

Workshop in Macedonian Folk Dance, led by Atamas Kolarovsky of Skoppyay, Macedonia, will be held Friday at Woodstock Town Hall. The workshop is planned for 8 to 10 p.m. with a folk dance party slated for 10 p.m. to midnight. Previous dance experience of any kind will be helpful. The event is being sponsored by the Novo Folk Dancers.

Balkan-style refreshments will be served.

Detailed information is available from Ron Sanders of Bearsville.

CARE TIPS FOR PLASTIC FURNITURE

Tender, loving care is essential with plastics, as with all quality furniture. Here are some care tips from Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

DUSTING: Dust with a soft, damp cloth or chamois, wiping gently.

WASHING: Sponge with warm water and a mild detergent solution; allow to soak a few minutes. Rinse well. Blot dry. On vinyl upholstery material, rub briskly with a soft cloth dampened in clear water and wipe until almost dry. Do not use strong solvents, powdered abrasives or steel wool.

POLISHING: A periodic waxing with a good grade automotive paste wax (not a cleaner-wax combination) will protect the surface and maintain a beautiful lustre. Apply a thin even coating of wax with a soft cloth. Buff lightly.

ANTI-STATIC COATINGS: These prevent the accumulation of electro-static charge for several months. Between applications plastics need only be dusted with a soft cloth.

SCRATCH REMOVAL: Minor surface scratches can be removed by waxing. Deeper scratches, especially on acrylics, often can be removed by sanding lightly with very fine "wet or dry" sandpaper and then buffing lightly.

SPOT REMOVAL: Ball-point pen ink should be removed immediately. Use a cloth dampened with alcohol, then wipe away the alcohol traces with clear water.

Chewing gum, car grease, mustard, lipstick, and shoe polish need to be wiped off with a dry cloth as soon as possible. An ice cube will help dislodge chewing gum.

Shoe polish is difficult to remove unless treated immediately. A non-flammable cleaning fluid can be used to remove any remaining stain. Then, rinse with clear water. NEVER use carbon tetrachloride because of its extremely toxic fumes.

Nail polish, nail polish remover and lacquer will permanently harm plastic. Polish remover causes discoloration. Remove quickly with clean cloth or sponge. Go over stain lightly with non-flammable cleaning fluid, then rinse with clear water.

Paint should be wiped off with a clean white cloth dampened with turpentine or kerosene, after pre-testing on a small, inconspicuous area. NEVER use paint remover because it severely weakens plastic. Use caution when working with turpentine or kerosene, since each is extremely flammable. To remove odors or oily residue, wipe with cloth wrung out in solution of mild soap flakes and lukewarm water.

Sulphide stains, air permeated with coal dust or direct contact with hard cooked eggs, permanent wave solutions, and other sulphur solutions can stain plastic. To remove these stains, place a clean white cloth over the soiled area and pour a liberal amount of six per cent hydrogen peroxide on the cloth. Let this solution remain on the area overnight. Do not let the peroxide contact lacquered or stained wood, and keep it from seeping into upholstery seams and weakening threads.

Tar, asphalt, and creosote must be wiped off quickly with a kerosene or naphtha dampened cloth. Rub gently from the outside edge of the stain to the center to prevent its spreading. Tar left on the surface for any amount of time produces an indelible stain.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

DEAR ABBY: I know this sounds like a silly problem, but your answer would mean so much to me.

A friend and I often fish together and we both enjoy it. That is, I do until it comes time to clean the fish. My friend then proceeds to fillet the fish while they are still alive and wiggling.

This bothers me, but my friend assures me that fish have no feelings, I think they have.

Who is right?

SORRY FOR FISH
DEAR SORRY: I checked with the Fish and Wildlife Department of the University of Minnesota, and their spokesman, Dr. Thomas Waters (so help me) said: "Since fish do have nervous systems, they also have feelings. However, it's impossible to say whether the pain a fish feels is the same kind of pain humans experience."

So tell your impatient friend that you aren't buying his fish story, hook, line and sinker, and he should wait until the fish is dead before he fillets it.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married a year. We were very happy until last week.

It all started when she bought a pants suit for $150 (I make barely $100 a week.) I told her to take it back. We argued a while and she refused to return it. The next day I took it back.

That evening when I came home for dinner, my wife was standing in the kitchen naked, preparing supper.

I asked her why she was naked, and she said, "Because I don't have anything to wear." Then it dawned on me what she was trying to get across, but just ignored her.

I never said another word about her being naked, which bugged her. All during the meal she would bump my arm. When she got up to get the coffee she shoved my chair. Finally she "accidentally" hit me in the head with the coffee pot. That's when I turned her over my knee and gave her a good spanking on her bare fanny. I figured if she was going to act like a child, I'd treat her like one.

She's not talking to me now. Was I wrong?

THE SPANKER

DEAR SPANKER: Yes. Fighting fire with fire won't solve anything, so knock off the spanking, and tell her to cut out the bumping and knocking. Your wife needs to learn how to live on your salary. And if it's insufficient for her extras, maybe she should get a job.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a middle-aged man who wants to marry for the first time in his life, but can't tolerate his beloved's children? She's a wonderful woman, but the thought of sharing her with those kids turns me off. Don't get me wrong, they aren't "bad" — they're normal, but that's bad enough.

I've always found children difficult to be around. Hers are in their teens, and will soon be out of the house and on their own, but marriage right now would be rough for me. On the other hand, the lady is lovely and if I wait until her kids are on their own, I'm afraid I'll lose her. Any suggestions?

TORN
DEAR TORN: Much depends upon how this lovely lady feels about her children. You have no guarantee that once her kids are "out of the house" she will sever all connections with them and concentrate exclusively on you. I think you'd better try to find a woman who can devote herself exclusively to you, now and later.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box

Helpful Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE
NOW IS THE TIME TO GATHER YOUR BLACK
WALNUTS

Dear Heloise:

Black walnuts, being in abundance this time of year, and not always having the time to crack and dig the meats from them when you want to bake that special walnut cake or other delicacy, here is a practical method of processing them to have them ready when needed, as my cousin Marcelle Doll suggests.

Although the nuts that fall early are less likely to be as good as those later, it is wise to check both. Shuck walnuts while green outside. Use rubber gloves to avoid staining hands. Wash them thoroughly using an old wash tub. (Now if you want nice big fishing worms to go fishing, you will find plenty of them where you pour this water within 5 to 10 minutes. Although acting drugged, they will come out and make good bait.)

Dry the nuts outdoors and take them in when you think they're ready. Keep trying them, by cracking in a vise, in order to get the meat when it has just started to dry and shrink away from the shell. At the right time, they will come out in halves. If it's too soon, setting them on a furnace or stove to dry a day or two will make them come out easy.

Nuts may be kept in the freezer after dried and placed in airtight containers.

Only a "nut" could care so much about nuts. But who can resist the unique flavor of that favorite walnut cake? The men may say, "Aw shucks," but see if they pass up the cake!

Thelma Schaibly

And look at the fun the whole family can have gathering the nuts in the crisp fall air. Love to have a piece of that walnut cake and a cup of coffee with you.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For a neat and inexpensive pill box for purse or pocket, the little pots that contain lip, cheek, or eye shadow gloss are marvelous.

After the contents have been used, thoroughly clean the container.

Mrs. A.M.P.

Dear Heloise:

We recently moved into a new home and like most new homes, all the walls are white. Well, I found a great cover-up for all the nicks, scratches, and scuffs until painting time.

Use white shoe polish. It's great!

Novig, Rovner Gala Set

The membership of Congregation Agudas Achim will honor one of its most loyal and respected members Saturday when an estimated 200 guests gather at a testimonial dinner for Abe Novig.

Joining Novig for an evening of accolades will be his business partner, Harold Rovner. Together, the two men own and operate the Rupp Southern Tier trucking firm.

And, together, the two men recently donated a large and valuable tract of land in Kingston to the synagogue.

Saturday's testimonial dinner will begin with a cocktail hour at 8 p.m., followed by a catered dinner at 9 p.m. All of the activities will be held at the Temple at 234 Lucas Avenue. Reservations are still being accepted.

The property in question is located at Bruyn Avenue and Cornell Street, and contains the New York Telephone Co. garage and the offices of Grove Trucking, Inc. Spokesmen for Congregation Agudas Achim have stated that the synagogue has no immediate plans for the property.

Rupp Southern Tier used the site for its Kingston headquarters until 1948. The firm's main offices are now in Middletown.

Although the land gift represents a sizeable contribution, Saturday's scheduled event is more a testimonial to Novig's continued support of the synagogue over the years than for the one most recent gift.

"Abe has been a loyal lifelong member of the Congregation," said Ted Weiner, one of the organizers of the dinner. "he is a real class guy and has never hesitated to help out when we needed it. It's our way of saying thank you for all he's done."

With characteristic modesty, however, Novig had asked the Congregation to forego the honor. "In our faith, what I've done would be more of a deed without all the publicity," Novig commented recently. "but I'm very honored nevertheless."

Novig was born in Kingston and lived here for 28 years. He joined the Congregation when he turned 13.

He apparently developed his acute sense of business as a teenager. In high school, he started his own newspaper delivery service; not long after that he had 25 other students under his command delivering 2,800 copies of The Freeman each day.

Novig has resided in Middletown for the past 29 years, but has still retained his membership at Congregation Agudas Achim. He attends services here on a regular basis and participates actively in the Temple's programs and affairs.

Novig and Rovner have guided the fortunes of Rupp Southern Tier for the past 30 years. The giant trucking firm covers Southern New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Metropolitan New York and Long Island.

Novig is married and has four children. In addition to a 31-year-old son, one daughter is a pharmacist, a second is attending law school and the third is attending Vera Cruz University in Mexico.

Alternate Fuel Sources Promised

MIDDLETOWN The Federal Energy Administration has assured Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) that it will find other sources of fuel for Orange and Rockland Utilities customers whose supplies are cut off.

Gilman urged FEA to take action to protect "interruptible" utility customers facing a Nov. 7 cut off of gas supplies. The utility blamed the cutoff on a cut in its natural gas supplies. Among those who will have to find other sources of heating fuel are hospitals and schools in Gilman's 26th District.

Gilman said that Regional Administrator Alfred Kleinfeld had said FEA would "take the sting out of the fuel cutoff" by finding alternative supplies for discontinued customers. FEA will send a letter to all "interruptible" customers this week telling them how to apply for alternative sources of fuel.

"We have good supplies of petroleum on hand at the present time," Kleinfeld told Gilman. "We don't envision any problem. We know where the supplies are and how to move them."

Gilman joined Rockland State Senator Donald Ackerson in calling for a joint meeting of local government, utility, and industry officials to try to resolve fuel supply problems.

6 Pc. Modern Dining Room... $444

An appealing dining room made of selected hardwoods with hardboard surfaces enhanced by a simulated walnut grain finish. Includes a lighted china, round extension table, 3 side chairs and an arm chair. The striking design "motif" is achieved through the amazing polystyrene and the table top is protected with heat-resistant plastic.

6 Pc. Spanish Dining Room... $444

You've seen this kind of look for hundreds more. Now, it's yours with the modern miracle of polystyrene, creating the rich effects on the doors. Made of selected hardwood solids with a simulated grain pecan finish on the hardboard surfaces. The grained effect on the table is actually a heat and stain proof plastic surface. Includes round extension table, lighted china, 3 side chairs and an arm chair.

FIELD TRIP TO FUNERAL HOME
(UPI Telephoto)

Death on Campus . . . A Course

ENID, Okla. (UPI) — A field trip to a mortuary is hardly a normal activity for a college class, but then little about the "Sociology of Death and Dying" course at Phillips University fits the academic stereotypes.

Brian Hinson, co-owner of the Hminger Allen Funeral Home, hosted Prof. Lloyd Taylor's 26 students during a three-hour session that involved a tour of the facilities, a brief presentation by Hinson and a question and answer session.

The tour included the chapel, state rooms, family and waiting rooms, preparation room and casket display rooms.

"The purpose of the course is to deal with this very common human problem and see it in a sociological and anthropological perspective," Taylor said. "It is an area most Americans are shielded from."

Hinson said, "most college students have had no contact with death whatsoever. Many have a misunderstanding of what death is and what funeral homes do."

"People tend to feel it's an unpalatable job that needs to be done, and they don't realize a lot of good living value can come out of it."

Taylor said he felt the first-hand experience of visiting the mortuary would give his course an added dimension.

"Questions are triggered by seeing things at the funeral home that would never arise in a person's mind otherwise," he said. "It can open new areas of thinking for the individual."

The students' responses have been favorable.

"It's interesting to see it now that I've had a lot of the feelings that person is experiencing explained to me," said Carolyn Blake, a sophomore from Pawhuska, Okla.

In evaluating the course, Taylor mentioned a student who was confronted with two deaths in his immediate family dying in the hospital. I think I'd soon after he took the course. "This person," the professor said, "proved to be the steady influence in the family."

MIKE MARSHALL

Cy Young Award to 'Iron Mike'

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Iron Mike" Marshall, the Los Angeles Dodgers' record-setting relief pitcher, today became the first of baseball's "Fireman Corps" to win the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the National League in 1974.

Marshall, who appeared in a record 106 games for the Dodgers while compiling a 16-12 won-lost record with 21 saves, received 17 first place votes and a total of 96 points from the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA) in beating out teammate Andy Messersmith for coveted Cy Young plaque.

Messersmith, the Dodgers' leading winner with a 20-6 record, finished second with five first place votes and 66 points, while the National Koufax, Bob Gibson, Denny

"I don't mean to belittle this record (for relief pitchers) 208 receive a vote in the '74 award. In fact, I'd like to thank all the sports writers. I realize it must have been a tremendously difficult selection with the great years Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton had."

"The more I saw him pitch, the more I liked and admired him," added Alston. "He never once gave me any indication he was tired or didn't want to pitch. He has his own ideas on pitching and you have to admire that too. He's really something else."

Acquired in the off-season from Montreal for centerfielder Willie Davis, the mustachioed Marshall was the one of the main cogs in the Dodgers' successful National League pennant run this year. In addition to the 106 appearances, Marshall also appeared in a

Falcons Fire Van Brocklin

Dutchman Finally Dumped

ATLANTA (UPI) — Rankin Smith finally heeded the "Dump the Dutchman" pleas of Atlanta Falcons fans.

The Falcons owner fired Norm Van Brocklin as head coach and general manager Tuesday evening and named defensive chief Marion Campbell to coach the team for the remainder of the season.

The move was not unexpected.

Van Brocklin, former Minnesota Vikings coach who took over the Falcons during the 1968 season, had incurred the wrath of Atlanta fans for the Falcons' poor offensive showing and of the local news media for his curt, often sarcastic interviews.

Campbell told a newsman: "Rankin Smith placed the title head coach on me and said we would talk about next year when the season is over. But I'm not concerned about that. I just want to do the job for Rankin, the Falcons and the assistants."

"My heart goes out to Norm Van Brocklin."

Van Brocklin could not be reached, but his wife, Gloria, said that when he arrived home after being fired, he was "more relaxed and relieved than I've seen him in weeks."

She said the family intended to stay on their farm in Social Circle, Ga., where they have pecan trees and livestock.

"We've got 174 acres, the prettiest spot in Georgia, and we've got trees that don't talk back to us and drop leaves and complain about everything."

Smith, a multimillionaire insurance executive, had considered sacking Van Brocklin last year when the Falcons got off to a 1-3 start, but swung to his coach's side when Atlanta reeled off seven straight victories to move into contention for an NFL playoff berth.

The Falcons lost that berth because of late-season upsets by Buffalo and St. Louis, but their 9-5 record was their best in eight NFL seasons and they came into 1974 rated a playoff contender.

Instead, the Falcons lost their first three regular season games; rebounded briefly to beat the New York Giants and Chicago Bears, then lost their next three games.

The final blow was Sunday's game at Miami when the Dolphins, despite numerous injuries, humiliated the Falcons, 42-7.

Smith said Sunday that he might change coaches if he had a replacement but insisted he didn't know where he would find a new coach at mid-season.

Just Monday, Van Brocklin brushed aside the "Dump the Dutchman" campaign, saying, "the only man who can dump the Dutchman is Rankin Smith. He is the man who hired me."

But there was a feeling that Van Brocklin knew his days as coach of the Falcons were numbered. He lost his cool during his weekly news conference Monday and challenged the sports writers and sportscasters present to fight him. The brawny coach got no takers.

There were reports of mutiny among the Falcons. Smith met with the players to discuss the problem and it was reported that running back Art Malone and wide receiver Al Dodd quit last week but were talked into returning by Falcon President Frank Wall.

Van Brocklin blamed this year's 2-6 showing on the pre-season strike and the attitude he said that strike and other player demands had fostered. He accused his players of lacking in desire, of not having the "heart" he felt was needed to win.

Van Brocklin was a stern taskmaster. Players, fearful of fines or other reprisals, were reluctant to talk about him until after they left the team. But some of his former players complained Van Brocklin was quick with criticism and slow with praise.

Van Brocklin, a former All-Pro who went straight from quarterbacking the Philadelphia Eagles to head coach of the Vikings in their first season, also had his troubles at Minnesota.

He was responsible for Fran Tarkenton, now again the Viking quarterback, being traded to the New York Giants, and, after earlier threatening to quit, was fired by the Vikings after the 1966 season.

Van Brocklin spent the 1967 season in the unlikely role of television color man, then returned to coaching in October, 1968, when he was hired by Smith who sacked Norb Hecker when the Falcons got off to an 0-4 start.

Atlanta wound up 2-12 that year and then went 6-8, 4-8, 7-6, 7-7 and 9-5 for a 33-34-2 total in five full seasons under Van Brocklin.

The 45-year-old Campbell, a tackle at the University of Georgia and for the 49ers and Eagles, was a teammate of Van Brocklin's at Philadelphia, was Van Brocklin's defensive chief three years at Minnesota, and rejoined him in Atlanta in 1969.

Campbell, who also coached defense at Boston and Los Angeles, built the Falcons' defensive unit into one of the best in the NFL.

It is anticipated that Smith will hire a "name" head coach to take over the team in 1975.

In the meanwhile, Campbell has the task of pulling together a discouraged team that still has two games with the division-leading Rams (the first next Sunday at Los Angeles) and games with the Vikings, 49ers, Baltimore and Green Bay.

NORM VAN BROCKLIN

Florida, Nebraska Sugar Bowl Bound

By United Press International

An agreement by the representatives of several major bowl associations not to announce the participants in their various post-season classics until Nov. 16 was broken Tuesday when it became known that Florida and Nebraska had already accepted bids to play in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on New Year's Eve.

Two more of the nation's top-ranked clubs—Alabama and Notre Dame—also let it be known that they had been offered "strong feelers" by the Orange Bowl while another of the nation's major college grid powers, Penn State, admitted publicly its team members had voted to accept a Cotton Bowl bid, if and when it was offered.

The early announcements of the expected bowl pairings was in violation of a "gentlemen's agreement" established by the representatives of 10 major bowl associations at a meeting in St. Simon's Island, Ga., last May. At that time the representatives agreed not to announce any pairings until Nov. 16. Those agreeing to the deal were the Astro-Bluebonnet, Cotton, Gator, Fiesta, Liberty, Orange, Peach, Sugar, Sun and Tangerine Bowl representatives.

Prior to this year the NCAA had a regulation in its by-laws which prohibited the contact of prospective bowl participants by bowl associations until the third Saturday in November or the Saturday prior to the institution's final game, which ever was the earlier. The NCAA, however, lifted this restriction at its annual meeting in January.

"Frankly, we intended to abide by the agreement established last May, but we found out that others weren't," said Clifford H. Kern, Jr., president of the Mid-Winter Sports Association, which sponsors the Sugar Bowl. "When one fellow jumps, you've got to jump."

Official announcement of the Florida-Nebraska matchup came hours after the Orange Bowl announced it had sent "strong feelers" in an effort to get Alabama and Notre Dame for their contest.

Last year's Sugar Bowl featured top-ranked Alabama and unbeaten Notre Dame in a game the Irish won 24-23.

"We were very much aware that a lot of people started

Major's Denies Report

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh Coach Johnny Majors says reports that he would return to the University of Tennessee as head football coach were a "ploy" used by rival coaches for years to "make recruiting tough for the opposition."

Majors, a Tennessee All-America halfback and Heisman Trophy runner-up in 1955, said he had received "no overtures whatsoever" to return to the Vols. Majors declined to name the coaches who may have started the reports that he might replace Vol Coach Bill Battle.

It was the second time in two years that Majors' name had been linked to the Tennessee job.

The question came up at a press luncheon Tuesday, following a reference to a "bumper sticker" campaign against Battle, who fell into disfavor with some fans after his team posted an 8-3 record last season. The Vols are 3-3-1 so far this year.

A local paper carried a story Tuesday quoting one sticker as reading, "Johnny Come Home." According to the story, the campaign was being conducted by Tennessee fans, some of whom reportedly tried to give Battle a message by sending a moving van to his home.

talking last March or May about what a great ball game that was and how there ought to be a rematch," said Kern.

"But there are a lot of things you have to take into consideration. Like are those two teams as good as they were last year? I'd rather not answer that, but you know this could be like a real good meal. You eat it once and love it, but the next time you might just push your plate away."

Both Florida, 7-1, and Nebraska, 6-2, will be making their second appearance in the Sugar Bowl. The Gators lost 20-18 to Missouri in 1966 and Nebraska lost to Alabama 34-7 in 1967.

Neither Notre Dame nor Alabama would confirm whether it had accepted bids to play in the Orange Bowl at Miami on New Year's Night.

"We have not as yet taken any definitive action on any bowl proposal and will not make any decision until the coaches, team and the faculty board, in that order, have had an opportunity to discuss the situations available," said Irish athletic director Edward W. "Moose" Krause. "The final decision will be announced by the faculty board."

"I'm not ready to talk about bowls yet," said Alabama athletic director and coach Paul "Bear" Bryant. "I'm not thinking in those terms at this point."

At Penn State, a spokesman for the school said the sixth-ranked Nittany Lions had not received any formal invitation but that the players had voted to accept a Cotton Bowl bid "if offered."

"We've had no formal invitation," the spokesman said, "but the vote has made our intentions clear."

The Nittany Lions would meet the Southwest Conference champion, either Texas or Texas A.M., on New Year's Day. Should they accept the Cotton Bowl bid, it would be their 13th appearance in a major bowl game since 1923. They have a bowl record of 9-2-2.

Flyers Learn About Islanders

By United Press International
The Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers found out Tuesday night that the National Hockey League's "surprise team of 1974," the New York Islanders, is for real.

The pugnacious Flyers point behind in the NHL Vancouver nipped the New York Rangers 2-1.

Islanders 4, Flyers 4
Billy Harris scored his eighth goal to tie the game after the Islanders had pulled goalie Billy Smith. Thirty-nine seconds earlier, fisticuffs between the Islanders' Garry Howatt and the Flyers' Bobby Clarke ignited a bench-clearing brawl that resulted in numerous penalties including a game misconduct to Andre Dupont of Philadelphia.

Reg Leach had put Philadelphia ahead 4-3 late in the final period and it appeared the Flyers would hold that lead until the brawl and Harris' goal.

"No one going to push us around," said Islanders Coach Al Arbour. "We'll play them any way they want to play it."

Bruins 2, Sabres 2
John Bucyk's third goal of the season at 14:42 of the final period gained a tie for the Bruins. The Sabres, however, have gone five straight games without a loss and remain three points ahead of Boston in Division III.

Kings 4, Blues 3
Veteran Bob Nevin scored his ninth goal, a deflection of teammate Neil Komadoski's drive, to give the Kings the victory with 4:56 remaining. The win also spoiled the debut of new Blues' coach Garry Young.

Penguins 5, Scouts 3
Pens' captain Ron Schock scored on a face-off with 5:35 left to play to provide the margin of victory for Pittsburgh. Then with six seconds left, Rick Kehoe broke away and scored an empty net goal to insure the win. Simon Nolet of the Scouts scored the 100th NHL goal of his career at 6:01 of the last period.

Canucks 2, Rangers 1
Andre Boudrias scored the deciding goal in the second period when goalie Ed Giacomin's stick broke and he tried to play with a defenseman's stick. Leon Rochefort had a first period score for the Canucks while Billy Fairbairn had New York's lone goal.

Bradley Shines

By United Press International
Bill Bradley could have been running for office Tuesday but instead he ran the Houston Rockets off the basketball court.

Bradley, who might have been on the New Jersey ballot had he not backed out of a Democratic congressional race, turned in his best performance of the season Tuesday night with a 30-point outburst as the New York Knicks beat the Rockets 106-93.

Bradley, picking up the slack left by injuries to Walt Frazier and Phil Jackson, was deadly with short jump shots from the corner as he helped the Knicks snap Houston's four game winning streak. Earl Monroe added 28 points for New York and Henry Bibby had 21. Rudy Tomjanovich had 24 to lead Houston.

In the only NBA game, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings ripped the winless New Orleans Jazz 115-97. The Denver Nuggets crushed the Utah Stars 145-101 in the only American Basketball Association game.

Kings 115, Jazz 97
Nate Archibald scored 30 points and Jimmy Walker added 25 to carry KC-Omaha past New Orleans. Pete Maravich had 26 points for the Jazz while Neale Walk had 23 points and 22 rebounds.

Nuggets 145, Stars 101
Ralph Simpson hit a club record 14 straight shots and scored 32 points to lead Denver to its eighth straight win. The Nuggets also set team marks for winning margin, two-point and overall shooting percentage and most points (84) in one half. The defeat was the worst ever for Utah and the 145 points was the most ever given up by the Stars. Moe Malone and Ron Boone led Utah with 16 points.

Grievance Rejected
NEW YORK (UPI) — NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy rejected Tuesday a grievance complaint filed by Bob Love in his contract dispute with the Chicago Bulls.

Love can appeal the verdict, either through his lawyer or the NBA Players Association, in which case it would go to binding arbitration with an outside observer making the final decision.

The veteran pro filed three grievances against the Bulls in an Oct. 28 hearing and all were rejected Tuesday by Kennedy.

The NBA head said Love first claimed he wasn't properly represented by counsel when he signed a Dec. 1972 contract with the club, but Kennedy pointed out the player "had been properly represented."

"Mr. Love then claimed that at various times Chicago agreed to renegotiate his contract but failed to do so," Kennedy said. "There was considerable contradictory testimony at the grievance hearing, but it was clear that Chicago, while indicating a willingness to listen to any demands Mr. Love or his agent might make, never agreed that such discussions would result in a new or modified contract."

Finally, Kennedy turned down a Love claim that Chicago had no right to fine him for missing practice or exhibition games prior to the 1973-74 and 74-75 seasons.

"I rejected this claim because Chicago has the right to levy such fines and withhold money to defray them under Paragraph Four of the Uniform Player Contract."

Kennedy did rule, however, that fines imposed prior to the start of the current season were excessive and ordered them reduced from $250 per missed practice and $500 for each exhibition AWOL be sliced to $100 and $200 respectively.

Kareem Coming Along
MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Bucks' team physician removed the cast from Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's right arm Tuesday and said the star center will undergo intensive daily therapy for the next five or six days.

Dr. George Korkos said whirlpool treatment and exercise will make up the major part of the rehabilitation of the broken hand, suffered in an exhibition game against the Boston Celtics last month.

The Bucks have won only one of their nine games so far without Abdul-Jabbar in the lineup.

ON THE VARSITY—Cyndy Meserve, 18, who says she just likes to play basketball, gets together with coach Tony Missere at Brooklyn's Pratt Institute. Cyndy, who disclaims being a women's libber, tried out for and made the school's varsity basketball team. Section Nine Soccer Opens For OCS, NP, Coleman

KINGSTON
Ulster County Athletic League champion Ontario, runner-up Coleman, and third place New Paltz all were to begin play this afternoon in the Section Nine soccer tournament.

Ontario squared off against Albertus Magnus at Valley Central; Coleman met Burke at Goshen, and New Paltz took on Monticello at the Monties' field. In today's other game, Florida was at Washingtonville.

Each of the four games is in the Class B bracket. Washingtonville is defending champion, but Monticello, with a 13-0-1 record, is top seeded. The Washies are 9-5-1, Florida 7-4, New Paltz 8-5, Coleman 7-3, Burke 10-3, Magnus 8-4-2, and Ontario 8-2.

The Class A tournament began Tuesday with Middletown upsetting Newburgh, 1-0; Clarkstown North blanked Monroe-Woodbury, 3-0; Nyack tripped Suffern, 3-1; and Ramapo downed Clarkstown South, 3-1.

In semi final action Friday, Middletown faces Nyack and Clarkstown North meets Ramapo.

The Outdoorsman

The decline of the Adirondacks as the happy hunting grounds is again pointed up as New York State's herd of William Tell's await the statewide deer opener on Nov. 18.

As Bob Peel points out in Outdoor Life's analysis of the state's deer herd, "Northern New York has been the scene of the state's traditional deer hunting for over a century, but the Adirondacks the past few years have offered little more than scenery and atmosphere."

The total take last year in the 24-county Adirondack area was only 5,522 deer and all but 39 were bucks. Some of the reasons causing the decline are maturing forests, the "forever wild" policy, three disastrous winters in a row and deer seasons in the past. Whatever the reasons, deer hunting in the Deep Woods has been at low ebb for the past several seasons.

Nearby Delaware County remains the real Happy Hunting grounds for state deer hunters. It led the state with a record take of 9,490 deer in 1973 and the buck-take-per-square-mile yardstick of 4.55 also leads the state.

The second most productive area in the state was Steuben County in the southern tier with a buck take of 6,893 and a 4.11 average. Hunters brought down 3,823 in Sullivan County.

With the exception of Steuben County, nearly two-thirds of last year's kill was taken in the farming and hill country west of the Catskills and south of the Adirondacks.

The Taconic Region in Dutchess and Columbia counties is one of nine park regions involving 33 parks in which hunting will be permitted during the 1974 season. Small game to deer and waterfowl, including geese, will be legal during the season for parkland hunters.

In general, the seasons within the parks will coincide with the state regulations but in some parks the seasons will be shortened to prevent too great pressure on the population. In some instances the number of hunters will be limited.

The permits for the Taconic Region by parks include: Lake Taghkanic—deer in bow season only; Taconic—deer in bow and gun seasons; Copake Falls—deer in bow and gun seasons; Clermont—waterfowl in season.

Some Facts About Posting

The New York State Hunting-Trapping Fishing Guide for 1974-75 reveals some interesting facts about posting uncovered in a study sponsored by the Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at Cornell University:

- In the year 1972, more than one half million acres of choice hunting, fishing and other recreational lands were newly posted.
- Nearly 50 per cent of private rural lands in New York state are now posted.
- Fifty per cent of all rural landowners indicate they post because of had experience with users of their rural land. Hunters constitute 56 per cent of those that constitute to such experiences.
- Landowners who post feel that, for the most part, hunters and snowmobilers are irresponsible.

Magic of Camp Cook

The camp cook who is a magician over the stove can often turn even the most miserable wilderness outings into memorable occasions, according to Vic Watia, an outdoor expert for UPI.

A steady diet of beans and bacon could make even the most ardent hunter or fisherman weary of the woods, he says. Combine poor eating with poor hunting or fishing and the outing is bound to be a disaster.

Some hunters go out of their way just to find a good camp cook to take along to their private deer camp. For example, annually for many years a small restaurant owner in Michigan's upper peninsula closed his business several days before the start of the whitetail deer season to open up shop in a deer camp. He never hunted, but the pay he received from the hunters was more than he made running his cafe during that period.

Fishermen are no different. One novice angler, who was an artist behind the stove, found himself constantly being invited to fish with seasoned veterans expenses-paid outings as far as Canada, provided he did the cooking.

The average hunter or fisherman cannot afford to hire a full time cook when he takes to the woods. However, there are ways he can improve his diet with a minimal amount of effort.

Many outdoorsmen have heard tales of cooks who can perform miracles using sardines, but few realize how easy it is to get started with this basic technique. However, it would be advisable for the prospective outdoor cook to fry the recipe on a home stove before graduating to the on-the-trail cooking.

Sourdough can be used for making biscuits, bread, flapjacks and dozens of other recipes. To make sourdough, the cook must begin with a "starter." The starter basically consists of flour and water, but every sourdough cook has his own preference in recipes.

A simple sourdough starter can be made by mixing two cups of flour with a package of dry yeast and enough lukewarm water to make a thick batter. After the batter has been stirred just enough to break up the lumps, it should be left in a warm place for at least 24 hours. Other sourdough recipes may call for milk or other ingredients.

The starter should be made in a crock or glass container, never a metal one, and should be sealed to inhibit the growth of bacteria. Often, the novice can tell when the starter is completed by the yeasty smell which fills the room.

The starter can be frozen indefinitely or kept in a refrigerator, but should be taken out several hours before it is used.

After removing the sourdough needed for a recipe, ingredients should be added back in the starter pot to insure a constant supply.

Sourdough experts advise novices to avoid mixing the batter too much, as it allows the gases to escape. Also more heat should be used than in normal baking and the sourdough batter must always be at room temperature before it is used.

Turcotte Thinks Vixen Can Win International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jockey Ron Turcotte said Tuesday he would like to have about 10 minutes next Saturday to get acquainted with Desert Vixen after which he hopes to ride her to an upset triumph in the $150,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel, Md.

Turcotte, speaking to turf writers via telephone from Aqueduct, told the press corps at Laurel Race Course that "if Desert Vixen runs as good a race as she did in winning the Belmont at Belmont she should have a good chance to win the International."

Desert Vixen won the Belmont on Sept. 21 at a mile-and-an-eighth, and according to Turcotte "had plenty left at the finish."

"I watched the race, I didn't have a mount in it and she looked like she could go a lot more," Turcotte said.

The official chart for the race said that Desert Vixen drew off PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The owner of the Portland Storm of the World Football League considers it "highly unlikely" that the team will stay in Portland for the 1975 season.

Bob Harris, a Canadian millionaire, said the situation was brought about by the inadequacy of Portland's Civic Stadium, low attendance and no local investors.

"I would hope that we could stay in Portland, but there appears no solution to our stadium problem," he said. "We have to be in at least a 40,000-seat stadium in a couple of years and that's essential. You just can't operate without it."

Harris also said Tuesday that the Storm will not get a first-round playoff game at home as promised "because the playoffs have already been committed." It's possible Portland could get a second round game at home, he said.

"I will inject more money into the club right away, which will bring the player salaries current and carry us through the season," Harris said.

Portland players staged a one-day boycott Sunday because they had not been paid during the past two weeks but went back to practice Monday after settling their differences with Harris.

"The moving of our game to Orlando, Fla., was never really agreed on first. It's just when they put a gun at your head, we had to. The Orlando team informed us two weeks ago they wouldn't come to Portland."

So we win by default? That doesn't set well with me. So then they guaranteed us $107,000 to play there, but they reneged on that. Now it's $50,000 plus $20,000 expenses. I didn't like the move, but their new ownership deal in Orlando couldn't be completed unless the game was moved."

"Unless Portland shows more interest, what can I do?" Harris said. "I have to look down the road, and with no stadium in the future, where do we with our inadequate stadium go in three to four years?" he said.

There should be footbolls flying all over Honolulu Stadium tonight.

That's when The Hawaiians, with Randy Johnson at quarterback and bidding for a World Football League playoff berth, entertain the Southern California Sun and league-leading passer Tony Adams.

Only two weeks remain in the WFL's inaugural season and five of the six playoff slots are locked up. Florida, Memphis and Southern California qualify as division champions and the three clubs with the next best winning records qualify as wild card teams.

Birmingham is in at 13-5 and Charlotte is set at 10-8 and that leaves the Hawaiians (7-11) dueling with Philadelphia (8-10), Chicago (7-11) and Portland (7-10-1) for the final slot.

Portland is at Florida, Charlotte at Shreveport and Philadelphia at Birmingham in other games tonight. Chicago is at Memphis Thursday night. Since he left the NFL New York Giants and joined The Hawaiians, Johnson has been a sensation, hitting 80-of-135 passes. Adams, meanwhile, has completed better than 55 per cent of his passes for 3,646 yards and 22 touchdowns.

Portland also has come on place.

Charlotte lost starting quarterback Tom Sherman and is struggling along with Brian Dowling and rookie Gary Danielson. Shreveport is using a college-style veer-offense with D.C. Nobles at quarterback. Philadelphia's King Corcoran leads the WFL with 29 TD passes and faces a Birmingham club which has fallen off slightly after an awesome start but still has two of the league's top receivers in Dennis Homan and Alfred Jenkins.

With their disputed contest with Stamford still up for grabs, the Kingston Sport Club Kickers travel to New York Sunday to face the Deportivo team.

Was the disputed game a 2-2 tie or 2-1 Stamford victory? Dick O'Donnell, publicity chairman of the German-American Soccer Association, said the league's arbitration board had not acted on the Kickers' protest.

The dispute arose when the referee disallowed a Kingston goal in the final second of play at Stamford, claiming that time had run out. A violent scene ensued but the official stuck to his decision.

Banatul of New York is the Third Division South leader with a record of seven straight wins. The Poughkeepsie Blue and White squad is in second place with six wins and a loss.

Top contenders in the North and South divisions of the Major League will battle in a big double-header at the Metropolitan Oval in Maspeth, Queens. Gottschee hosts Dalmatians, while the German-Hungarian tackle Blue Star.

Inter-Guiliana leads the Major Division North with a 5-4 record and German-Hungarian is leading the South Division with a 5-1-1 record.

Other action in the German-American Major Division will see the Philadelphia Ukrainians visiting Throgs Neck Stadium to play the Greek Americans while Inter-Guiliana is the visitor at Academy of Aeronautics in Jackson Heights against Hellenic.

Ticky Returns To Utah Squad

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — University of Utah basketball coach Jerry Pimm says injured guard Ticky Burden, the Utes' leading scorer the last two seasons, should be ready to return to full practice by Thursday.

Burden underwent a "minor" operation last month for a cracked bone in his ankle. Utah team doctors called the operation a complete success.

Pier 7 Nears 'A' Championship

SAUGERTIES: Pier 7 moved another step closer to the A Division pennant with a 32-12 romp over the Mountain Boys in the SAA Touchdown League. Unbeaten Howard Johnson's overpowered Alpha Cement 26-0 for its sixth straight victory in the B Division, while Rotron came from behind three times to check Gunjah Warriors 27-19 in a battle of the C Division have-nots.

John Sullivan of Pier 7 hit his favorite target, Steve Schabot, with three TD passes against the winless Boys for 9, 31 and 6 yards. He also hit Mike Smeedes (4) and Smeedes had a safety. John Sentar returned an interception 16 yards for the final score. The Boys scored on a pair of John Perrino passes, 6 yards to Dan Siranni and 12 to Tim Arnold.

Ho-Jo's George Suess connected for four touchdown passes, one in each quarter, to Doc Silinovich (55, 28), Nick Ascienzo (10) and Jerry Robinson (16). A 22-yard Les Hildebrandt-Craig Wrolsen pass accounted for the Alpha score.

John Forsyth's four scoring passes led Rotron to its first win after six straight losses. He connected with Buddy Atkins on a pair of one-yarders, Vic Pelletieri from the 33 and Jess Sheeley from the 2.

The Warriors scored on a six-yard run by Butch Myer, John Rader's 47-yard punt return and 20-yard pass from Butch Myer to Vic Tumillio. A key to Rotron's big breakthrough was the defensive play of Dit Myer, who intercepted three of his brother Butch's passes.

OCS, Red Hook in Section 9 Hockey

BOICEVILLE: Red Hook plays Suffern at Friday at Rockland Community College in Suffern. The championship Red Hook New Paltz High School and team and runnerup Onteora faces Clarkstown North High will compete in the first at Clarkstown South High Section 9 girls' Field Hockey School. The winners will meet Sectionals starting today, in the championship game.

John Jay Stops Kingston In Girls' Volleyball

KINGSTON: Kingston High's girls varsity volleyball squad fought highly rated John Jay to a standstill before succumbing 15-13, 16-14 in a Dutchess County Scholastic League match. The scores belied Kingston's 37 record and was the second straight outstanding performance by Coach Pat Burke's spikers. "We have played great volleyball in the last two games and greatly reduced the number of mistakes we have been making."

Sandy Mancuso and Carol Phillips served well for the Kingstonians. Coach Burke commented after the game, "They're (Kingston) playing great volleyball, their defense is improving and they have more confidence in themselves. There are only three seniors on this team and 10 juniors. We may surprise someone this year and you can be very sure that we will surprise many more people next year."

The Kingston Jayvees extended their record to 9-1, with a 2-0 victory over Jay in the second match. They won by scores of 15-4 and 15-2. Pam Cook served well for Kingston and Ertha Burris contributed her usual, strong, all-round game.

Pay Raises in Tentative Ulster Budget

By CARL GRAHAM

TOWN OF ULSTER
Pay raises for most town employees are included in the tentative 1975 budget for the Town of Ulster, which will be a subject of a public hearing in the Town Hall tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Slated to receive the largest increase is the building inspector, who gets a $2,500 raise to $7,500. The dog warden is not far behind, jumping $2,400 to $4,000. Both town justices are slated for $2,000 raises to $15,000 with the assessor getting a $1,500 boost to $11,000 and the town clerk at $1,500 raise to $9,500. Raises of $1,000 are scheduled for the highway superintendent (to $11,500) and the supervisor (to $10,500).

The two town councilmen are slated for $600 boosts to $6,200 and the tax collector is slated to go up $500 to $5,000.

A look at general fund appropriations shows $402,040 budgeted, up from last year's $335,200. The amount to be raised by taxes also increased, from $94,661 to $149,752. Highway appropriations are $349,707, up from $322,200, and the amount to be raised by taxes is $345,162, up from 1973's figure of $317,678. No figures were included to show the increases in tax rates per thousand of assessed valuation.

Figures for the Ulster Water District (with 1973 figures in parentheses) show appropriations at $209,900 ($192,600), with $122,400 to be raised by taxes ($110,450). Corresponding figures for the Ulster Sewer Improvement Area show appropriations of $222,210 ($74,700) and tax revenue of $90,100 ($34,200).

Breakdowns on major capital improvement projects show a cost of $372,862 for the new town hall. Major financing includes $246,990 in certificates of deposit, $15,000 each from the 1974 and 1975 budgets, $30,000 in revenue sharing funds, and $65,000 in capital notes, payable at $13,000 plus interest for five years.

The Ulster Sewer Improvement Area capital program shows estimated costs of $109,000 for a back hoe, sewer jet, and all-purpose truck. Financing includes $10,000 each from 1974 and 1975 budgets, with another $89,000 due from 1976 through 1979.

Figures for the town's lighting districts, fire protection districts and fire districts show increases in most cases. The 1975 figures, with 1974 totals in parentheses for comparison, show: East Kingston F.P.D., $13,750 ($12,000); Eddyville F.P.D., $6,300 ($5,500); Ulster F. D. No. 1, $15,715 ($12,825); Ulster F. D. No. 5, $75,085 ($79,010); Ulster-Ontario F.D., $4,496 ($4,371); Ruby F.D., $10,364 ($10,755); East Kingston L.D., $1,829 (unchanged); Albany Avenue L.D., $7,014 (unchanged); and Whittier L.D., $1,102 ($1,012).

PUBLIC NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

ALBANY

CASE 26749—Proceeding on motion of the Commission as to the rates, charges, rules and regulations of the New York Telephone Company, for Information System Access Lines.

October 29, 1974

NOTICE is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the above matter before Examiner Robert W. Husband at the office of this Commission, 44 Holland Avenue, Albany, New York, on Wednesday, November 13, 1974, at 10:00 a.m., to be continued if necessary.

New York Telephone, on September 29, 1974, filed certain tariff revisions providing for the introduction of rules, regulations, and charges for Information System Access Lines. Such lines are described by the Company as "Dial Private Branch Exchange, Centrex and Centralized Switching Service lines connected acoustically, inductively, or electrically to automated subscriber-provided information systems."

The proposal of the Company contemplates a $15.00 monthly charge per line. The approximate annual billing is $180,000 to 47 current customers to the service.

The purpose of this hearing is to permit interested parties the opportunity to submit statements respecting the filing and to establish a schedule for presentation of evidence and future hearings.

The Commission may approve, modify or reject any or all of the proposed tariff revisions.

Put plenty of organized storage at your fingertips with this 16.0 cu.-ft. Frigidaire Freezer.

Plenty of organized space and convenience come with this 16.0 cu.-ft. Frigidaire Upright Freezer. Inside are 5 full-width storage areas, including one 3-position adjustable shelf, plus a swing-down gate across the freezer bottom to keep packages in place. A drain helps you clean and defrost. And, there's a magnetic door seal around all four edges of the door to help keep the cold air in, warm air out. There's also a Temperature Control that lets you adjust freezer temperatures for the changing seasons and your changing needs.

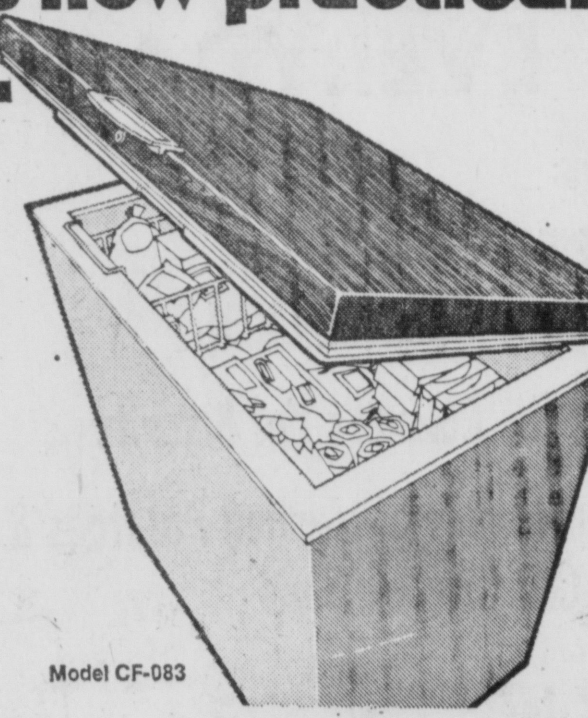

Limited Quantities

Inside and out, this Frigidaire Freezer proves how practical beauty can be.

Here's an 8.3 cu.-ft. Frigidaire Chest Freezer featuring an elegant walnut grained vinyl-clad lid and gold polyester enameled cabinet. Inside, you'll find the convenience of a sliding basket to store small packages. There's also a Temperature Control that lets you adjust freezer temperatures for the changing seasons and your changing needs. Its infinite-position dial has marked settings plus a separate OFF position that's especially handy for defrosting and cleaning. In addition, you'll find the security of a built-in lock and pop-out key.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This should turn out to be a rather interesting day for you because of some pleasant and unexpected happenings that will alter your routine.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) On impulse you're likely to buy a new item for the home. It will be something modern and mechanical that will be used by all the family.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll get some exciting news from a good friend that you'll put to good use. It will come from a person who is group-oriented.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be on the lookout for an unusual bargain for something you've been wanting but felt was too expensive to lay the money out for at present.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Keep plans very flexible so you can change direction on a moment's notice. You don't want to be tied down if something more enjoyable pops up.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something of material value from a good friend that you'll be given you from a source you'd least expect. The circumstances that prompt this will be quite unique.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The luckiest things that will happen today will not be of your own making. Others tend to treat you better than you would yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't put off until tomorrow something important that needs doing. Pieces will come together today that won't do so later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get hold of that special party who knows how to expedite a plan of yours. Today he'll have time to help you properly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is the day to get the ear and attention of one who can help you where your work or career is involved. See if he can spare a moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to do more listening than talking when you're in the company of an experienced adviser. Suggestions you'll be given will be worth it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a much better way to handle a task you're charged with than the way you do it now. Use your imagination for the solution.

Nov. 7, 1974

Sudden advancement or unexpected career opportunities will be offered to you this year. Take prompt advantage of any offering that will enhance your status or reputation.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

STEADY?: My problem is trying to find a steady girl friend. I get along well as a friend but when it comes to getting a relationship started it's always the same: "I like you as a friend, but nothing more."

I'm beginning to feel as if I may never find a steady girl. There is a girl now that I dig. Should I try to start a relationship with her?—Looking in Louisiana.

(A.) Yes. But do not hurry it. Be sure first that she is friendly with you and at least likes you a little. You can start by talking to her at school. Then call her a few times on the telephone. Then ask her for a date. After a date or two, you and she will know better how you feel about each other.

DIVORCEE: (Q) Kathy and I have been living together for almost a year. She is divorced and has four children and wants to marry me. Her father has a bundle of money. She is 23 and I am 16. Should I marry her?—Asked in Alabama.

(A.) Kathy is old enough to know what you and she are doing doesn't make good sense. You should be old enough to know that too. Let Kathy go, and grow a little. Learn more about life, particularly that happiness can't be bought and sold. Then look around for someone you can be reasonably sure of happiness with.

South Analyzes East's Play

By Oswald and James Jacoby

tricks but the third one just wouldn't be there.

"What else could it be showing?" The doubleton ace-jack was the mental answer.

Now South made the play to give him his contract against that second combination. He dropped his 10 of diamonds!

East led back a heart. South won in dummy: led a diamond to his king and finessed successfully against West's nine of diamonds after East produced that important jack.

South Analyzed the lead as fourth best — probably from the queen. West liked to make attacking leads. He counted seven winners — three in spades, two hearts and one each in diamonds and clubs.

"How can I make nine tricks?" he asked himself. "I had better lead a diamond from dummy and finesse the ten spot successfully."

Twenty-eight points figures to be enough for game, but this time things did not look too good. Still he led the diamond from dummy. East promptly produced the ace and South stopped to think. "Why did East hop up?"

One good reason would be that the ace was a singleton. In that case South would have no trouble getting two diamond tricks but the third one just wouldn't be there.

But No Majority

A Fourth Term for Javits

JAVITS... A VICTORY WAVE
(UPI Telephoto)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, the 70-year-old Republican incumbent, shook off voter discontent with Watergate and the recession Tuesday to win his fourth term over the determined challenge of Democrat Ramsey Clark, the former U.S. attorney general.

Sen. Javits carried Ulster County with comparative ease, garnering 23,013 votes to Clark's 18,380. Mrs. Keating ran very strongly in Ulster County with 12,268 votes which represented 23 per cent of the 53,661 votes cast in the county for United States Senate.

However, Javits — one of the most successful politicians in the state's history who won reelection in 1968 by more than a million votes — was denied a majority for the first time in his 26 years in elective office.

Nearly complete unofficial returns showed Javits with 1,882,225 votes, Clark 1,587,383 and Conservative Barbara Keating 654,169.

The 47-year-old Clark maintained slight leads in the big cities — New York, Albany, and Buffalo — but this was more than offset by Javits' strong showing in the suburbs and upstate.

In statements to their backers, Javits and Clark alluded to the bitterness of the campaign that took on the tones of a tale of three cities — Hanoi, Rabat, Morocco and Havana.

Clark called Javits a "Nixon thug" after the senator released a tape obtained from the Central Intelligence Agency of Clark's statements made on visit to Hanoi in 1972 in which he said "There is justice and equality here."

Javits had his own problems with visits to Communist countries when polls showed most voters resented his recent trip to Havana.

And the two men jostled throughout the campaign on the Mideast question, a volatile issue in New York with its huge Jewish population, and the recent Arab summit meeting at Rabat, with Javits alleging that Clark favored the establishment of a separate Palestinian state.

Clark in his concession speech at the Commodore Hotel said, "I congratulated him (Javits) on his victory and on his effective campaign. I didn't tell him I agreed with all he did because I can't do that and I won't."

McHugh Elected in the 27th

Watergate was not all bad, according to new Democratic Congressman-elect Matthew McHugh, and he was not just referring to the fact that it went a long way toward getting him elected.

"There's been much negative comment about Watergate," McHugh said early today, following his big victory Tuesday in 27th Congressional District voting. "In the long run, it was a constructive phenomenon."

"It made people open their eyes," he said, "it made people more skeptical, but skeptical with hope."

McHugh, in a district with about 45,000 more registered Republicans than Democrats, won by about 13,000 votes over his nearest challenger, Republican Alfred Libous, according to incomplete returns. McHugh was not sure of his final total; he said Libous conceded early, and the McHugh people just stopped counting.

The 27th District, larger than Connecticut, stretches from Chemung county, beyond Ithaca, in the west, to a large part of Ulster County in the east, and the only one of the six counties in it that McHugh failed to carry was Delaware, with Libous getting 2,155 votes to 1,712 for McHugh, with 120 votes going to Conservative Franklin Ressegue in incomplete returns.

McHugh spent a lot more time campaigning in Ulster County than did Libous, and the county rewarded him with 11,081 votes to Libous' 7,656, and 1,568 for Ressegue, with 64 of 65 districts reporting. Of the 12 towns in Ulster County in McHugh's district, he only failed to carry three of them, Denning, Hardenburgh, and Shandaken and he only failed in Shandaken by 14 votes.
